Defective Gas Range Causes Death Of Two Tots

CABINET WILL CONSIDER SALE OF ALL SHIPPING PROPERTY OF U.S. SUBJECT TO PERFORMANCE BY THE PURCHASERS

Washington, March 30.—A concrete plan to stop losses of the Shipping Board and American merchant marine will be taken up by the cabinet immediately upon the President's return to Washington.

This plan, to be taken in view of the failure of the ship subsidy bill in the expiring Congress, is to take steps to dispose of the fleet.

FULL ENFORCEMENT PLAN EMBODIED IN 4 COMPANION BILLS

Harrisburg, Pa., March 29.—Governor Pinchot's prohibition enforcement legislation now before the General Assembly is a series of four new bills, each providing in the administration of the law new features that will undoubtedly give Pennsylvania the most thorough enforcement machinery in the country, if approved by the Assembly.

Under the Snyder-Armstrong law, which Governor Pinchot signed on Tuesday night, the licensed saloon is gone, but restrictions against the sale of beer are entirely removed. Saloons can open on every corner, in every city and county which by judicial or any other regulation have for years been dry. Grocers and storekeepers of all kinds can sell beverages of any kind that come within the regulations of the Volstead law.

But Governor Pinchot now aims to regulate just what beverages can be sold and through the introduction of a cereal beverage measure by Representative Benjamin H. Ludlow, Montgomery county, such restrictions will be placed over the manufacture and sale of beer in the state that it will be impossible for any high voltage alcoholic beverages to issue from any establishment.

Every drop of beer that goes forth from breweries, if the Ludlow bill becomes a law, will have to be tested by state inspectors who are created under the bill. Every brewer will have to be licensed by both federal and state government and every container that goes forth from breweries will have to bear a certificate from the state that the beer or other beverage contains less than one-half of one per cent alcohol.

It is through this bill that Governor Pinchot hopes to stop the flow of high voltage beer. Another measure carries strict regulations for the manufacture and sale for commercial and medical purposes of intoxicating liquors and also requires a license.

The Governor's strongest stroke for enforcement is found in the new administration code volume of hundreds of pages which is slowly being studied by those who have access to the few typewritten copies on hand.

The code provides that the Department of Justice shall have power and its duty shall be with the approval of the Governor.

To investigate any violation of alleged violations of the laws of the commonwealth which may come to its notice.

"To take such steps and adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary to enforce the laws of the commonwealth."

The code goes even further in that it permits the Attorney General, upon a written request from a presiding judge in any county, to assign a deputy Attorney General to take charge of criminal cases where the case is deemed to be a proper one for the commonwealth's intervention. This will give Governor Pinchot and his Department of Justice power to supervise District Attorneys who are making an effort to secure convictions of dry law violators.

Under the code the Public Service Commission would be entirely reorganized June 1, 1923 and the

The government would sell the huge fleet of ships on the following conditions: First, an agreement by private buyers to keep necessary routes of trade open. Second, point out to buyers the routes most fertile in prospects which would not hurt trade conditions at present. Third, willingness of the operators to develop new markets and routes.

BURNHAM DIES OF BULLET WOUNDS INFLECTED BY GIRL

New York, March 30.—Frederick Burnham, a wealthy contractor, died today from bullet wounds inflicted by Helene Zeigler, who shot and killed herself upon discovery that he was married.

Burnham lived with his wife in a fashionable part of Debs Ferry, Miss Zeigler, who is 28 years old, lived with her parents. The young woman, it is reported, said she "could marry Burnham at any time." Sudden disclosure of the fact that he was married is believed to have driven her insane.

FOUR ARE KILLED IN CRASH OF AUTO AND BIG "4" TRAIN

Columbus, O., March 30.—Four persons were killed and a score injured when a Big Four passenger train crashed into an automobile at Clintonville, a village five miles north of here.

The train was derailed and the engine and four cars overturned.

Deaths List Increases

Columbus, Ohio, March 30.—Six are known dead and a score injured in a wreck of a Big Four Passenger train which crashed into an automobile here today at Clintonville, a suburb north of here. The speeding train was making up lost time.

The automobile suddenly jerked out on the crossing, stalled for an instant, and then the crash. The engine applied all his brakes, stopping so suddenly the entire train was derailed, the locomotive burying its self in the wreckage of the next four cars overturning and piling up.

PARENTS CITIZENS OF U. S. BUT SON IS TO BE DEPORTED

Syracuse, N. Y., March 30.—Sammy Goldman just returned to Russia despite the fact that his parents are United States citizens. This was the decision of the United States Health Board today ordering the deportation of the boy on the ground he is slightly under the mental standard for his years.

prevent commission of seven members would be reduced to five to be appointed by the Governor.

Governor Pinchot is expected to address a joint session of the House and Senate next Tuesday at noon to discuss the code, the educational program, and finances. It is now generally accepted that the emergency tax of an increase of 12 1/2 per cent on all state taxes for the next two years will be the measure adopted to acquire the additional revenue needed for the conduct of the state government during the biennium for which appropriation are to be made.

SOMEET HEEDLESS OF WORLD APPEAL FOR PRIEST'S LIFE

Moscow, March 30.—Vicar General Budkevich, a leader of the Catholic church in Russia, must die for resistance against the Bolshevik system. The life of Archbishop Zepiak will be spared.

This was the decision of the All-Russian executive committee today regarding appeals made throughout the entire world and joined by the United States against the conviction of the Catholic prelates by a Russian court.

The sentence of Archbishop Zepiak is commuted to ten years imprisonment. The Vicar General, however, in the official decision of the committee, is guilty of high treason because he conspired "with enemies of the state" while Russia was at war with Poland.

During the course of the meeting the president read a draft of a proposed law now before the Legislature which provides for care and treatment of crippled children when the parents are too poor or too indifferent to have them properly educated or treated, and after considerable discussion the chair appointed Messrs. M. M. Overly, L. R. Browne, and Wm. H. Wilson a committee to look into the merits of the bill and report at next week's meeting.

James Kerr, who represented the Clearfield club at the district convention at Frederick, Md., made a highly interesting report of that convention and incidentally launched a boom for Henry Kieffer of the Clearfield club for Governor of Maryland.

Because of the Easter holiday the trial was adjourned until Tuesday.

"No you can't drink it," McClure said. "We would lose the case with it."

Snow and colder tonight, tomorrow fair.

DUBOIS ALDERMAN COMMITS WOMAN WITH BABE TO JAIL

Score Alderman Borden for Action In Sending Wife of Hunted Man to Jail In His Stead.

STILL STANDS P A T

The State police operating in the DuBois region are "putting the works" on a lot of moonshiners these days, having dug up ten or a dozen different violators of the law the past two or three weeks.

Tuesday the home of a farmhand named Yankovich was raided and a quantity of contraband liquor and the "main" was captured. The man of the house managed to escape but the officers not to be balked of their prey proceeded to get his wife, Mrs. Tefolia Yankovich, under arrest.

The woman was then taken to Alderman J. G. Borden and a charge of violating the liquor law was made against her. The Alderman ordered her to produce $1,000 bail and when she was unable to do so he committed her to the Clearfield county jail.

The woman who is the mother of five children, the eldest of whom is but nine years of age, with a screaming baby at her breast, was brought over to Clearfield on the morning train and delivered over to the custody of the sheriff. Before leaving some the woman Mrs. Tefolia Yankovich, arranged with a neighbor to look after three of her little tots and brought the youngest and oldest children with her.

Alderman Censured

Imagine a woman and a nursing baby imprisoned in the Clearfield county jail. When the prisoner was brought into the Sheriff's office, Clerk Jones, who was in charge during the absence of Sheriff Lomax, who is a witness at Court in Lehigh Haven, realizing they had no place to put the woman at the jail, took her and her little ones before Judge Day and when he explained the situation to the Court, he'll bet the case of the committing Alderman "burned some" when Judge Day got through saying what he thought. An order was then made directing that the woman and her little ones be placed in the County Home until the case could be investigated or other disposition made.

Borden's Statement

When the case was called to the attention of Alderman Borden by the Progress he expressed great surprise that any objection could be found to his act which he said was nothing more than his plain duty under the law. He further stated that no more objection could be found to his action than the committing magistrate in the case of Joe and Mrs. Lomax. These two people were able to get bail. Would they not have both been committed, had they been unable to get bail, the Alderman said.

The Alderman further stated: "This woman has committed the second offense within two years. In 1921 when her husband was in jail serving a sentence for manufacturing and selling white milk she was in need of help, but had applied for relief from county, and when Mr. Weimer, the County Commissioner, went to her home to investigate, she closed the door and did not let him in the house, because she was swallowing white milk at the time. This time when police tried to arrest her husband after finding in her possession a still and mash, she sent her husband away. Then officers swore out a warrant for her, and when she was arrested and her sister came to bail her out, she told her that she did not want bail, and she evidently wanted to go to jail."

"I understand this woman's native language and used my best judgment in this case. There was too much of law violation in this particular place where one man dies from the effects of white milk and another young man

And Tie Straps For Patient

KEPT HIM TIED UP

While delving into the official history of Clearfield, as recorded in the minutes of the town Council back fifty-two years ago, we ran across an interesting and now more or less laughable chapter in the lives of our earlier Clearfielders. This incident, while contrasting the methods of taking care of the public health fifty years ago, with the present capable manner in which such visitations are taken care of now serves to show while present day methods are preferable to the old, it was almost as expensive then to get sick as it is now to go to a hospital for treatment.

But to get back to what we started out to talk about. Along about the middle of April, 1872, Prof. Hets, a German singer and music teacher, arrived in Clearfield and put up at Colburn's Hotel, where S. I. Snyder's residence now stands. Shortly after the Professor arrived he was taken sick and Dr. T. J. Boyer, then one of the town's leading medics, was called and found Herr Professor to be afflicted with smallpox. Vaccination was not so general then as now and smallpox was smallpox in those days, and what a commotion that case raised. A "hurry up" meeting of the Borough Dads was held and after lengthy and serious discussion a vacant house on Hillsdale, belonging to the late A. M. Hills, was taken over as a hospital—the term "pest house" hadn't been coined as yet—and the suffering Professor taken there as soon as it could be furnished and fixed up some.

Davy Lewis, an old time miner, and quite a character in his day, who then lived in the Brawley home near Hillsdale school house, who had had the smallpox in England, was appointed head nurse and keeper of the sick man. Knowing whiskey to be a preventative Davy one day took an overcoat and relapsing his usual vigilance his patient, in a fit of delirium, got out of bed and in his "sart tail" pardon the term—with a shawl such as men wore those days in lieu of overcoats, on, started down over the hill to come to town.

Talk about unlawful assembly, a panic or what not, you should have seen your fathers and mothers, aunt and uncles when the word got abroad that the smallpox patient had escaped from the hospital and was at large.

The whole town's population started in the general direction of the Professor, who was finally discovered on Clark street about the intersection of Walnut but everybody was afraid to go near him. He was held up on the road for a time when Ed Mack and David Charles, brave then in the test, and spurred on by the offer of $25 each for capturing the sick man, stepped up to the Professor and taking hold of him led him back to the "hospital."

Then deciding to guard against any future unseemly occurrences, and as a money-saver no doubt, the Town Council which was composed of W. C. Foley, L. L. Reizenstein, A. I. Shaw, Walter Barnett, J. M. Adams, with G. L. Reed as Burgess and A. W. Lee, secretary of Council, ordered a large strap from John C. Harwick, harness maker, with which Keeper Lewis could strap the sick man to his bed to guarantee his being there when wanted.

The Herr Professor was strong and vigorous naturally and managed to pull through the smallpox but he

ANOTHER SCHOOL HOUSE
BURNED

Fire resulting from a defective flue in the Hetrick school house at Clearfield, north of DuBois, caused the destruction of that building Thursday evening. The fire was discovered about 11:15 o'clock, while classes were in session, but under the direction of Miss Bingham, the teacher, and the pupils were marched out in safety.

People living in the vicinity, deeply alarmed when they saw the flames and smoke, rushed to the scene to contain if all of the children were out in safety. After this fact was ascertained, steps were taken to subdue the flames, but they had recurred so fast and nothing could be done. A few class books were saved, it is probable that the building will be rebuilt at once.

NEW POSTOFFICE ROOM
FOR OSCEOLA MILLS

Postoffice Inspector W. M. Calvert has closed a lease with the Masonic lodge at Osceola Mills for a room in the new Masonic temple now about completed, at that place for quarters for the postoffice and possession will be taken within the next week.

The building in which the Masonic lodge was quartered was destroyed by fire about a year ago and a fine new one has been erected on Lingle and streets. A portion of the first floor has been taken over by the government for postoffice purposes.

CENTENARIAN
PASSES AWAY AT
REYNOLDSVILLE

Reynoldsville, Pa. 29.—Mrs. Rose Day, at the age of 100 years, three months and 21 days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Foley, of Reynoldsville, just after midnight. Pneumonia caused the death of the aged lady after an illness of but a few days. Her mind was clear and active until the last. She was able to get about with surprising ability for a woman of her advanced years.

The deceased was born in Ireland on December 4th, 1822, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McKeown and came to this country when a young woman. She was married in this country, her husband dying many years ago. Before coming to Reynoldsville he had been making her home with her daughter in Grampian. She had been a resident of Reynoldsville for the past ten years. She was a remarkable woman in many ways other than from the point of longevity. Always a healthy, hard working woman, of deep religious conviction, she made and held a lot of friends in Reynoldsville in the time she lived there. Bright and active, witty, kindly and a faithful member of the Roman Catholic church her death is keenly felt by people in the vicinity of Reynoldsville, and other sections of the country.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Foley, of Reynoldsville, and a daughter in Montana.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning and the body taken to Grampian where it will be laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery there.

What is Fastest Living Animal?
Man makes a poor show, for the speed of the best sprinters is little more than 20 miles an hour. For some time it was thought that the cheetah, which covers a running mile in about 11 seconds, could do better, but his speed, which works out at just over 40 miles an hour, is nowhere when compared with that of the antelope, who is capable of reaching a speed of over 60 miles an hour and of keeping it up for some time. What of the gazelle? The great speed and hissing noise give a false impression of his speed. The race of the antelope is on the race track is not much more than 20 miles an hour.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Why the date of Easter Sunday varies from year to year forms one of the most remarkable problems in all history. The Easter festival as now celebrated was not held during any centuries of the Christian Era. The first Christians, being mostly rescued from the Jewish race, at first made no change of their ancient Passover.

But by the end of the first century Gentiles became Christians from the religion of the Greeks, Syrians and Romans. They wanted to substitute Jesus for the Paschal lamb of ancient Israel.

Then the world-famous contention arose and existed during centuries regarding the times of celebration.

Those of Jewish descent held that the death of Jesus would be the date of ending the Paschal fast, always from Exodus from Egypt on the 14th day of the moon in the evening. The basing time on the changes of the moon had the astronomical effect that Easter may occur on any day of the week.

But the Christians from the Gentiles wanted it forever on the first day of the week, Sunday.

The difference became acute. Thus the Friday proceeding would be observed as the date of the crucifixion without paying any attention to the day of the month, the fast continuing until midnight Saturday. That is one wished to observe the traditional day of the week, the other of the month.

The great point of this noted controversy was that of observing or not the fourteenth day of the moon in the Hebrew month Nisan, their new year our March. The trouble was caused by the irregularities of the time of full moon in reference to the year.

The Hebrew sacred year began, as ours ought to, at the time of the vernal equinox, the instant when the center of the sun crosses the plane of the earth's equator coming north. But the variations occur always in times of full moon.

Troubles increased until the council of Nice A. D. 325. Not being able to predict accurately, since the tables, now based on mathematics, had not been worked out. Thus in A. D. 327 they held Easter in Gaul on March 21, in Italy April 18, in Egypt April 25.

Finally this rule was adopted: Easter shall be the first Sunday after the fourteenth day of the moon which happens on or next after March 21.

This Easter will occur on March 23, A. D. 2002, 2160, 2226, 2280. And on April 23, 2000, 2079. It will fall on April 1 in 1923, 1934, 1945, 1956, 2014.

For present day Clearfielders recall the old Catholic cemetery on South Second street upon the site now occupied by St. Francis church. Borough Council passed a resolution decreasing that no burials should be made therein on and after August 1, 1870, and the cemetery was then removed to the site presented by the late James L. Leavy, beyond Hillsdale.

More than $500,000,000 is invested in the petroleum industry in Mexico American interests lead with 60 per cent of the total; British have 13 per cent and the Dutch 7 per cent.

Cures for baldness and systems for reducing waists were advertised so far back as 1755. A medical book, compiled by John Wesley, of Methodist fame, on display in the Hardin County, Ohio, court house, gives the following advice to bald men of long ago:

"Rub the bald spot morning and evening with onions till it is red and rub it afterwards with honey."

The following recommendation to fat men and women, wishing to reduce, is obtained in the aged book:

"Use a vegetable diet. I know one who was entirely cured of this by living thus: breakfasted and supped on rice and water (with bread) and dined on turnips, carrots and other roots, drinking water."

LOCAL BOY MAKES SPORT RECORD AT YALE

Harold J. Boulton, of the Class of 1923, is one of the men who have made possible a winning season for the Yale fencing team, and he will have a chance to further demonstrate his prowess with the epee in the coming meet with Harvard, on April 7th, and in the intercollegiate at New York, April 12th and 13th.

Having had no experience in fencing prior to the time when he came out for the Freshman fencing squad a year ago last fall, Boulton has rapidly developed into a skillful swordsman under the brilliant tutelage of Coach Grasson. He specializes in the epee, although he fought with the sabre in the meets with Dartmouth and M. I. T. The former weapon, often called the duelling sword, has been his main standby, however. Using it he has contested against Cornell and the Army at West Point, and against Columbia, Pennsylvania, the Navy, and the Washington Fencers Club, the last named places being visited in the order given on the team's southern trip. For the whole season, to date, Boulton has an average of more bouts won than lost.

He entered the National Junior Epee Championship held at the French Y. M. C. A. in New York, last month, and reached the semi-finals before being eliminated.

All of this is rather an unusual record when considered, especially, in the light of the fact that this is only Boulton's second year at Yale, and that he has two more years on the varsity ahead of him.

Nor is fencing his only activity. He is one of the crack shots of the rifle team, having shot in practically every meet of the year, and getting perfect scores quite frequently. Of special note are the Transatlantic Cable matches with Oxford and Cambridge, both of which were won by Yale by good margins. At present Boulton ranks second on the rating list of the rifle team with a grand average for all the meets of 99.43 out of 100.

Ever since being at Yale, Boulton

has taken an active interest in crew. He was coxswain on one of the Freshman crews last year, and is now alternating between Sophomore A and Sophomore B. These crews have been rowing on the harbor for nearly two weeks.

She has four A's and one B, the quality credits amounting, therefore to 42. I congratulate you heartily. There are 225 members of the Freshman class. The Welsh stock should be a very good one.

Arkansas River Frozen Over
The weather bureau at Little Rock Ark. advises that the Arkansas river at that point has several times been frozen to a depth that would allow teams to cross on the ice between Little Rock and North Little Rock, the municipality just across the river. From January 11 to January 27, 1918 the river was frozen, the ice on January 21 being five and one-half inches thick. From February 7 to February 17, 1923 the river was frozen over at Little Rock and teams crossed on the ice.

To Mend Enamel.
Take equal parts of fine coal dust, fine salt and putty. Knead well together and pack into the hole firmly. Put water into the mended article and stand on a warm stove for an hour. Wipe carefully and leave for a day before using. The mixture will form a cement as hard as the enamel, says a correspondent.

Character and Money.
Character is money; and according to the man earns or spends the money, money is his most evident power. As money is the most evident power in the world's use, so the use that he makes of money is often all that the world knows of a man—Hulver.

Curwensville's Own Column

Mrs. Larson and child of New York City and Miss Katherine Kelly, a student at Columbia College, N. Y., are a home for an Easter visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Holt, West State street.

Just Hopt is resting from yesterday's exertions on account of a broken ill.

Mrs. Mabel Norris, formerly with Edwards Bros., has resigned her position and is now employed in the office of Crescent Refrigerator Company.

Mrs. and Mrs. Rudolph Dahle are planning at the advent of a son in the family circle, the infant being born in the Clearfield hospital last Sunday.

Mrs. Dr. Henry, of Punxsutawney is a visitor in the home of her sister Mrs. Harry Brown, on South Side. The lady was formerly Miss Ida Brown, a daughter of A. Irwin Brown.

Mrs. Mary Moser has gone to Philadelphia to spend the balance of the week with friends.

Mrs. and Mrs. Paul Graham of Jersey Shore are visiting in the home of Mrs. Alice Eiler on Susquehanna avenue.

The body of a little grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Vorse Bloom was brought from Franklin, Pa., and interred in Oak Hill cemetery today. Mrs. Bloom is the youngest sister of Mrs. Frank I. Schless.

A school was held in the lower grades of the public schools yesterday, the children being permitted to enjoy a pre-Easter vacation. School will convene again Monday.

Council will be asked at next regular session to take into consideration the saving of Thompson street to the intersection of Church street. In wet and muddy weather this street is almost impassable and auto going cemetery-ward in funeral procession are unable to make trip.

James Harvey, Bloomington avenue, received the sad intelligence yesterday forenoon that his eldest son, Walter Harvey, had met an instant death in the coal mines at Dixonville, Indiana county, at about the hour of 11 o'clock a. m. Wednesday. He was riding out a trip when a car left the mine, throwing him against a live wire and electrocuted him. Death resulted almost instantly. His age was 36 years, 11 months and 4 days. Deceased is survived by a widow and five children, besides his father, four sisters and three brothers. The remains will be brought to Curwensville on Friday via the 10:30 New York Canal train, and conveyed to Oak Hill cemetery, where a short service will be conducted by Rev. B. H. Conly, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

J. Bailey, of Monaca, Pa., was a Curwensville visitor yesterday, registering at the Central.

The Workman store has moved into its new quarters in Central Hotel building and is doing business right along. The meat shop will be ready for business within a few days.

Shedding His Horns.

The matter of the growth, development and shedding of the horns of the American antelope has always been a question of abiding interest. For a long time it was stoutly disputed that the animal shed its horns, and the subject constantly found its way into the sporting journals and magazines. I had the honor of being in at one of these, and the question arose by attention being called to it in an article by a retired officer of the army. In a somewhat elaborate article, this writer strongly denied that the antelope ever shed its horns, and the editor of the forementioned magazine invited me to take the matter up for him. My opinion was that his correspondent was wrong, as the shedding of the horns of this animal has now been known to science for many years, and has been carefully studied and described by a great many competent naturalists.—Dr. R. W. Bhafieldt, in American Forestry Magazine.

Her Idea of a Show.

Wherever two or three are gathered together the current plays are sure to be discussed. A luncheon the Woman attended the other day was no exception to the rule. One enthusiast waxed eloquent over the merits of a play at a downtown theater. Turning to the country cousin who was visiting the friend on her right, the Woman asked if she had enjoyed it. Soberly came the reply: "Can't say I liked it much. Why, there wasn't an evening gown in the whole show."

Faithful Know No Mercy.

In the days when gull wings and bustles were in demand for women's hats and when the law afforded no protection to the feathered tribes, they were slaughtered by thousands all along the coast. Millinery agents from New York would conduct expeditions, accompanied by expert skinners, to the breeding grounds of the seafowl and hire local gunmen to do the killing. One woman in a single season brought back 10,000 tern skins from Cuba island, Virginia. More than 500,000 tern skins were collected in one season in the south of North and South Carolina.

TURN ME OVER

Tests for Car-Driving Ability Should Be Varied According to Tasks

By DR. RAYMOND DODGE, Wesleyan University.

Slow and uncertain or wavering actions are undoubtedly the occasion of many automobile accidents. This slowness is in part due to lack of practice and training and in part due to the natural tendencies of the individual. Both of these factors can be made matters of test.

Tests for car-driving ability should be varied according to the sort of tasks which the drivers are called upon to perform. Tests for drivers of light pleasure vehicles might be very different from tests for drivers of fast ambulances and fire appliances, and they in turn might be quite different from tests for drivers of heavy motor trucks. High-powered fast machines obviously should not be entrusted to poor or relatively untrained chauffeurs. A specific form of test for various types of machines is good common sense and good science.

It is notorious that tests for drivers in one community are entirely different from tests in other communities. Licenses from different localities are quite incomparable in value. It is obvious that the same ability to drive is not required on a country road as in the city, but if the farmer is to drive into town, he must be able to handle his machine under city traffic conditions or else not be allowed to come in. Standard tests would help remedy this situation.

America Is Cursed Today With a Lot of Spineless Would-Be Reformers

By SHERIFF W. E. ROBB, Former A. E. F. Chaplain.

The state has established that the man is guilty beyond a reasonable doubt; that he murdered without cause; that he showed no mercy; that he was a menace to life—therefore it has decreed he must die, for that is the law of the state as passed by the will of the people. The law is the will of the majority and the death penalty for murder the people have imposed upon themselves as a method of restraint.

Brainless men and women who have no ability to think, who believe in free license and rebel against all law—those will condemn and spout as usual.

Unthinking religious fanatics will plead and pray and forget that God is a God of justice and mercy, and that judgment is as much a duty of love as mercy is the delight of love. They forget that love, while the greatest of all laws, is the most perfect in its working and the most exacting in its demands.

America is cursed today with a lot of spineless, unthinking, cowardly, would-be reformers, editors, speakers, who crave approval more than they crave to be right.

They with one accord will all condemn a minister of the gospel for performing the duties of the state. They think of a minister as a useless, spineless creature.

Taking another's life, hurling some one over the precipice for eternity, is the most terrible of all tasks. I am going to hang Orrie because it is my duty and because there is no way to evade that task except the way of the coward. The memory of it will be with me always. I would to God there were some way out of it, but there is not.

Hard Manual Labor the Rest of His Life for Necessities of Life

By SENATOR H. L. MYERS, of Montana.

Every dollar of the German kaiser's fortune should be taken away from him by the entente allies; he should be stripped of every dollar that he has and rendered penniless and required to go out and work at his manual labor the remainder of his life for the necessities of life.

The German kaiser is marrying, making merry, eating, drinking, feasting and dancing, while his victims writhe in torture or suffer the pangs of hunger and untold want. He is reputed to be one of the richest men in the world.

I repeat that every dollar of his money should be taken away from him; he should be stripped of every penny of his fortune, and it should be applied to the reparations due France and other countries wronged by Germany and to the payment of damages to this country for the sinking of the Lusitania and various other indignities and losses inflicted unlawfully upon our people by Germany.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT. Whereas the Officers and Members of Washington Camp No. 372 of O. Therefore be it resolved that in the death of our brother the order has lost one of its most trusted members. 2:20/12ch.

Resolved that the symbol of our sorrow at the death of our brother shall be the draped charter which shall not again be unveiled until a period of three days shall have passed. 2:20/12ch.

Another Lamb Anecdote. The following story, which appears in an old volume of "Leigh Hunt's Journal," throws an interesting light on Charles Lamb's beautiful relations with his stricken sister, Mary: L. and his sister were one evening supping at Mrs. M—'s L. (with another person) had made his way to the bottom of the second bottle of port. "You really shall not have any more Charles," said his sister. "Pray, Mrs. M—, don't give him any more."

"You hear what your sister says, Mr. Lamb," observed Mrs. M—, pouring out the remains of the port (which was thick) into his glass. "She is a person of mean capacity," said he. "I never listen to her. Try the next bottle, madame; for this is thick, and—how pitifully should run fine to the last."

Buddham's Sacred Place. Diamond mountain, in Korea, is a sacred place of Buddhism, the priests of which, coming from China in proselyting endeavor, settled there several centuries ago. Because, says the Christian Science Monitor, the Buddhists are true lovers, E. H. Wilson, on his expedition trip to Korea for the Asiatic Museum of Boston, found that the woodman's ax or modern sawmill had invaded this area, and he discovered many new varieties of trees and flowers with which the United States and other countries will be enriched.

Fort Hamilton Famous. When British troops forced a landing the first shot by an outpost of Colonial troops were fired from the spot which later became Fort Hamilton. Then it was known as Denyse's Ferry. After the disastrous battle of Long Island in 1776, a fort was built. Efforts to find the cornerstone laid in 1825 were not successful. "Stonewall" Jackson was baptized at the little church, now St. John's, and one of the historic landmarks in the city, when he was stationed at the fort in 1840.

Capt. Robert E. Lee, later the noted Confederate army general, was for years in command of the post and was a vestryman of the church. The batteries have been manned for the last half century by officers who have won fame in a hundred fields in defense of their country.

Concerning Holland. Holland is one of the few countries in the world that live up to the expectations of the traveler so far as looks are concerned, observes Kenneth L. Roberts in the Saturday Evening Post. The landscape is heavily sprinkled with windmills, canals and men and boys in overgrown bloomers. Stories sit around carelessly on the house chimneys in very melancholy attitudes. Life in Dutch cities is greatly slowed up by the canals. The natives of Rotterdam, for example, spend eight hours a day in sleeping, two hours and a half in eating, six hours in working and the rest of the time in waiting to get over the bridges across the canals. Taxicabs are seldom out of work in Rotterdam, for once a person gets into one he spends the rest of the day in front of open canal bridges. Americans who are weary of hearing Europeans speak approvingly of American dollar chasers will be interested to hear that Holland's coat of arms is said by resident Englishmen and Americans to represent two lions fighting over a guinea.

TO ORGANIZE ALL CHAPLAINS

Father O'Connor of Cincinnati Assumes Task to Increase Membership of the American Legion.

Father William P. O'Connor of Cincinnati, national chaplain of the American Legion, refuses to admit that the duties of his office are confined to the delivering of an invocation at the Legion national convention. In accordance with this belief, Father O'Connor has assumed the task of organizing all war chaplains in an effort to gain new members for the Legion.

William P. O'Connor is a fighting type, and his thirty-three years are full of interesting experience. Born in Dayton, O., he attended the public and parochial schools and was graduated from St. Mary's college, now the University of Dayton, in 1908. He was graduated from St. Mary's seminary and ordained in 1913, when he accepted an appointment as pastor of a church in Urbana, O.

He was serving there in July, 1917, when he became chaplain of an Ohio National Guard organization which later became the One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Field artillery of the Thirty-seventh division. He sailed with this organization for France in June, 1918. The ship, before completing the voyage, rammed a German submarine which later was sunk by destroyers.

Father O'Connor served with his organization in the Baccarat sector and later at St. Mihiel, the Meuse-Argonne and in Belgium. After the armistice he proved his versatility by arranging for the production of "The Passing Show of the A. E. F." one of the best soldier shows presented overseas.

The national chaplain obtained first-hand information in regard to the feelings of newly discharged veterans when he served for a time with national headquarters of the American Red Cross. Later he became pastor of a church at Jamestown, O., and subsequently was transferred to his present charge, the church of St. Vincent de Paul in Cincinnati.

He served as a member of the Legion's national ceremonial committee in 1921, which drew up the ceremonial which have been used by all Legion posts. In all classes of religious creeds and dogmas, Father O'Connor, has been noted for his marked liberality and toleration.

W. A. Stevens, Commander of Des Moines (Ia.) Post, Promises to Have Largest Organization.

Any man who can go out and get 200 members to anything, even the American Legion, is worthy of attention. W. A. Stevens, newly elected commander of the Legion post of Des Moines, Ia., has the credit for getting one-tenth of the 2,000 members of his organization, the second largest post in the country.

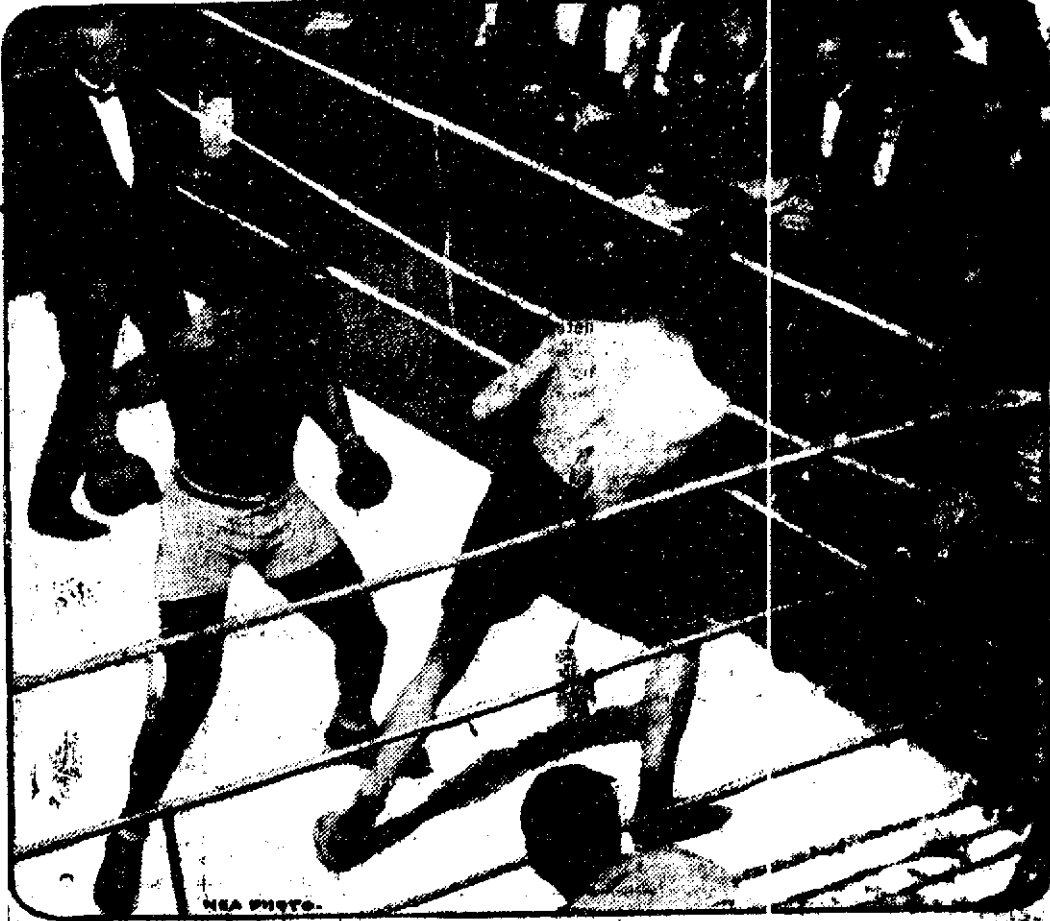

During the war Stevens was a sergeant in the One Hundred and Ninth Ammunition train of the Thirty-fourth division. He spent 11 months at Camp Cody, N. M., and later went overseas. He has pledged himself to make his post the largest in the country and to lead it in participation in civic affairs.

Praises the Legion. Phil D. Swing, a member of the house of representatives from California, has issued a statement praising the American Legion for its work in conducting American Education week. "As water will rise no higher than its source, so our republic will prove no wiser than the electorate from which it draws its authority and inspiration," Congressman Swing stated. "Hence, the all importance of seeing that every person admitted to participation in our government receives the necessary education to be able to understand the problems which confront our nation and to contribute his bit toward their intelligent solution. This applies with equal force to the native-born as well as to the naturalized citizen. The American Legion is doing a splendid peace-time service by boosting American Education week."

The Social Climber. Old King Coal was a merry old soul. A merry old soul he was, said he: "Since I'm worth 'teen dollars a ton, I'm the pride of Societes."

When nothing else will clean it—use Blue Devil.

Carpentier Sees McTigue Defeat Siki

This picture, taken in the closing rounds of the 20-round bout in which Mike McTigue was the heavy-weight title from Siki at Dublin on St. Patrick's Day, shows Carpentier (arrow) at ringside. Carp, you know, lost the title to the Senegalese mauler. He may meet McTigue in America in an effort to win it back.

RELIEF FOR DISABLED

American Legion Asks for Sixteen Changes in the War Risk Insurance Law.

Substantial relief will be given by amendments to the war risk insurance act, requested by Joe Sparks, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, he enacted into law.

The Legion asks for 16 changes in the law, in order that veterans disabled as a result of their war service, not now receiving relief from the government, may be cared for by law.

Amendments to the war risk insurance act requested by the Legion at a recent hearing follow:

1. That if the insurance of a neuro-psychiatric patient of the veterans' bureau has lapsed and he has not had a guardian appointed by court, that the director of the United States veterans' bureau be directed to remove his insurance and re-instate it in force.

2. To prevent the exhumation of the veterans' bureau from using their judgment as to whether a man's disability is of service origin when this disability was not present at the time of his enrollment in service.

3. The word "pulmonary" be stricken from the law so that service men suffering from tuberculosis of the glands or lungs may become compensable.

4. That the period of separation from active service during which an ex-service man would be considered to have contracted tuberculosis automatically from service be extended to five years from the period of two years following discharge.

5. That the provision limiting to two years a man's automatic service connection when suffering from a neuro-psychiatric disease, be automatically extended to five years.

6. That burial expenses of $50 be added to provide for the transportation of the body and burial, and that this be extended to claimants of the bureau who die in institutions under the jurisdiction of the bureau, although they have not been a declared compensable.

7. That where a disabled veteran has been an inmate of a hospital or asylum during a continuous period of one year or more or whose such person has been totally disabled or totally and temporarily disabled for a continuous period of one year or more he shall be rated as totally and permanently disabled.

8. Providing that the total permanent disability rating clause be amended to include the loss of the hearing of both ears as permanent and total disability.

9. That in no case shall the compensation of a disabled person be reduced until a physical examination has been made since the last rating nor until he shall have been given at least three months' notice mailed to his last address of the bureau's intention to make a reduction.

10. To extend the period from one year of discharge or from August 9, 1922, to August 9, 1923, for obtaining certificates of disability.

11. To make certificates of disability irrevocable.

12. That the date by which government insurance must be converted to Legion insurance carrying a reserve shall be extended from 1921 to 1923.

15. To make insurance payable to beneficiaries, where a permanent total disabled veteran was denied reinstatement because of his condition, and has since died.

LEGION MEN DEMAND ORDER

Carter County, Oklahoma, Guarded by Former Commander of Ardmore Post, Assisted by Buddies.

It is one thing to oratorically advocate the maintenance of law and order and another to get out and actually enforce these principles.

When Carter county, Oklahoma, tired of a reputation for lawlessness—a reputation unfortunately backed by occurrences—it sent for Ewing London, American Legion post commander, a former sailor and hand fighter, and told him to go to it.

Carter county said it with votes, giving a two-thirds majority to the young veterans of the World War.

London got busy almost before the last precincts were heard from.

He first picked his active allies, ten deputies, all of them experienced in police work and the majority of them service and Legion men. Then he took stock of the forces of the enemy—reconnaissance, they called it in military circles.

Numbered among this genial tribe were peddlers, gun men, automobile drivers, hijackers, gamblers, yeggs and plain "bad men."

Not that Carter county merits or has merited, a particularly unsavory reputation. But it was late a border community, and of access to the lawless, attractive in its newness to their predatory instincts. There was a strong and growing better element in Carter county, the element that sought out Ewing London for the sheriff's place and elected him thereto.

London planned his campaign like a field officer. There was nothing impromptu about it. His slogan was, "Get the man on the top," and a raid that didn't produce the person of the directing genius in lawlessness was considered a failure.

Now London has been in office not quite a year and he and his men have made 900 arrests for violation of laws.

London has paid a tribute to the assistance of American Legion men in cleaning up Carter county. He was formerly commander of George B. Anderson post of Ardmore.

FREE SHAVES AND HAIR CUTS

Patriotic Indianapolis Barber Supplies Tonsorial Attention to Disabled Soldiers in Hospital Ward.

Service to disabled veterans of the World War is the hobby of Randolph S. Ocheltree, proprietor of an Indianapolis barber shop.

Mr. Ocheltree has been making visits to the soldiers' wards at an Indianapolis hospital every Sunday, along with eight or ten barbers employed by him, and has visited the hospital at least one afternoon each week by himself, for more than a year. He has shorn and shaved the disabled soldiers without charge and his brothers have done likewise in volunteering their services without cost to the heroes.

Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, has written a personal letter to Mr. Ocheltree, stating: "Please accept the sincere thanks of the American Legion for your unselfish devotion to the men who fought for us. It is an inspiration to our organization which places justice to the disabled above all other aims and purposes. I hope that I may have the pleasure of seeing you some day and thanking you in person for your service."

When on the Losing Side.

The securities of the Hamburg, American and North German Lloyd steamship companies ranked as reasonably conservative investments before the World War. On April 1 these companies will call in bonds issued at a par value of $32,500,000.

The redemption will cost only $10,000—the bonds happen to be in marks instead of dollars. The sound American business man who ten years ago put $100,000 into these securities will get back something less than $31. One advantage of our having won the war instead of Germany is that Liberty bonds are still worth from 98 to 99 cents to the dollar. The kaiser can paper his house at Broom with dollar bills, if he wants to, but it will cost him $825 a square foot to do it, plus paste and labor. The steamship bonds would be much cheaper.—American Legion Weekly.

Cactus Responsible for Cochineal.

Among its other virtues, the cactus gives us the cochineal—the insect used for coloring. Ledwienbeck, in 1703, discovered that it was the female of an insect (Coccus Cacti), which never moved from a certain spot on the cactus, the male being the active member of the family but colorless, and therefore useless. These insects are harvested three times during the dry season, being swept from the cacti into wide-mouthed bags with stiff brushes and killed in boiling water or hot ovens, after which they are dried in the sun and put up in small packages for the market. In this thoroughly dried condition 70,000 insects are required to make a pound.

Most Rigid of Ordinances.

One of the most rigid ordinances that can be imposed on a Hindu is that of being outcasted. No man may eat with him, and his own relatives will not permit him in their homes. He is completely ostracized.

Many Bug Varieties.

We have in the United States a long list of insects we usually designate as beetles. There are some 15,000 different kinds of them, and they range in size all the way from little ones that it almost requires the use of a microscope to see, to such giants as the spotted horn beetle—American Forestry Magazine.

A better motor lubricant

ATLANTIC Motor Oil has always been regarded as one of the finest products of its kind and day. Yet Atlantic engineers have never stopped with the belief that the limit of motor oil improvement has been reached.

Not once have they relaxed in their study of changing motor construction and changing lubrication requirements; nor in their efforts to produce a still better motor lubricant.

They have succeeded! To-day they offer you an Atlantic Motor Oil that is better than ever—still farther ahead in the field of high-grade motor lubricants—an oil that is noticeably

Longer lasting;

Higher in heat resistance;

Better in piston sealing qualities;

More enduring under the constant attacks of friction, pressure and impact against the bearing surfaces;

Better in every way that makes for higher motor efficiency and greater operating and upkeep economy.

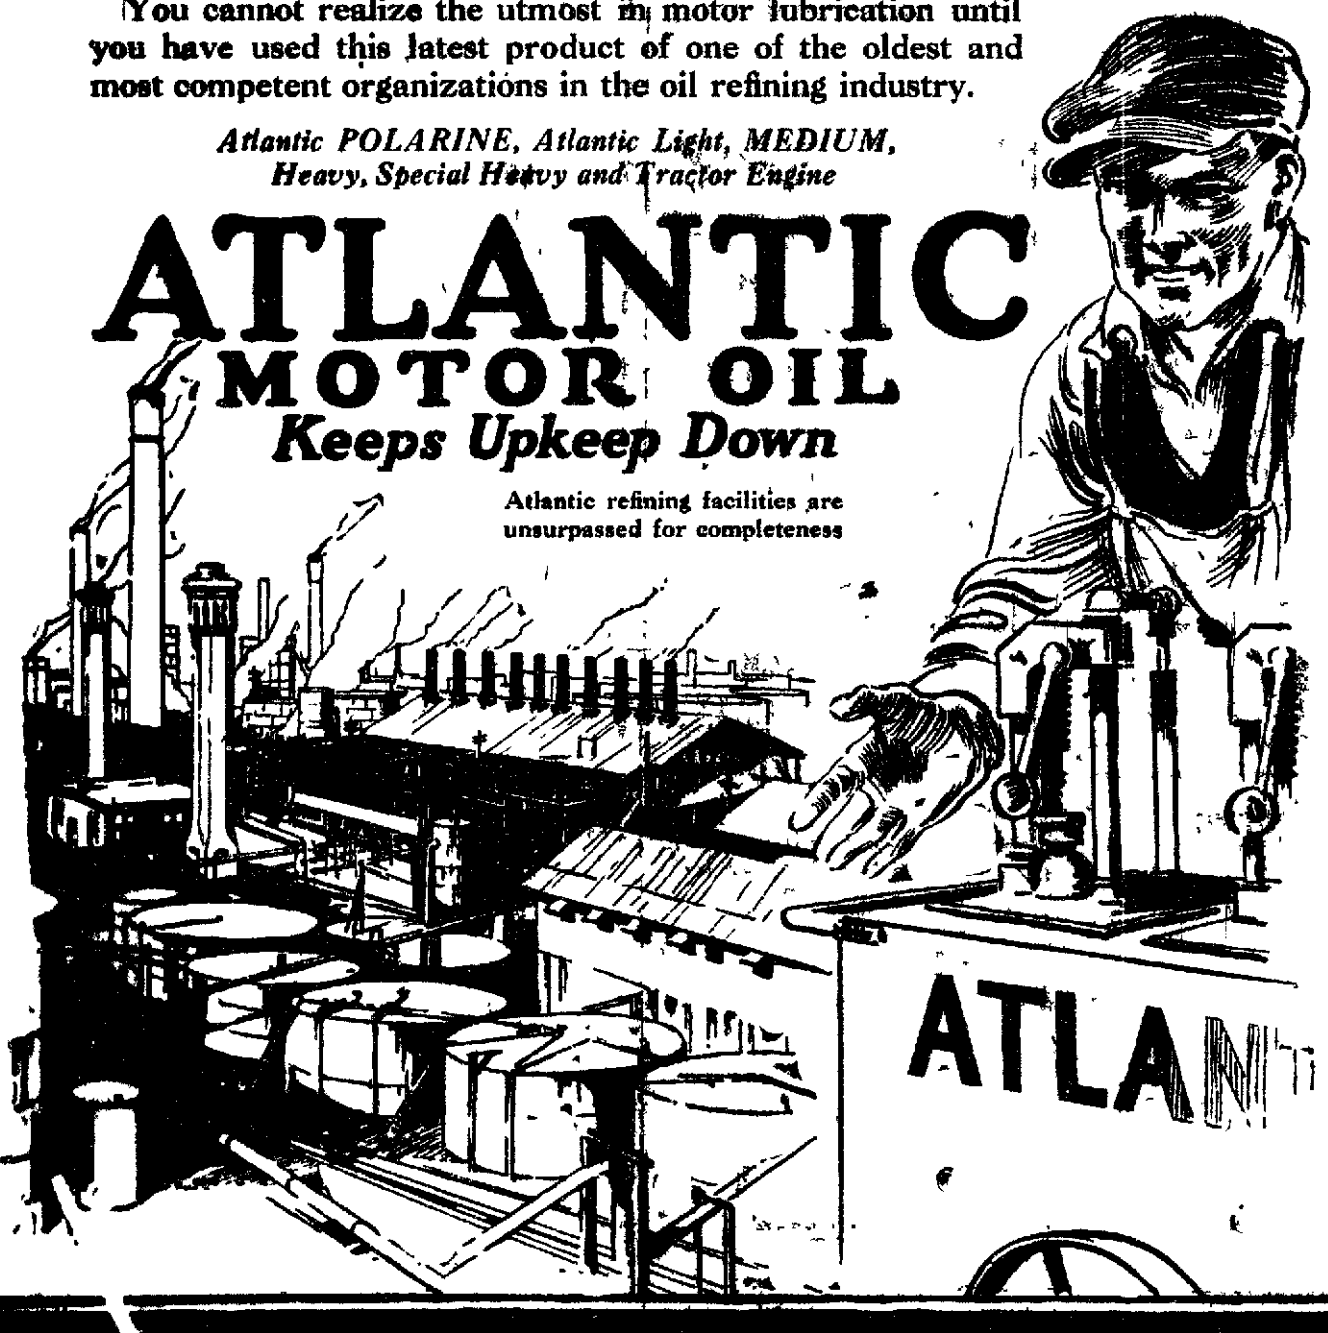

You cannot realize the utmost in motor lubrication until you have used this latest product of one of the oldest and most competent organizations in the oil refining industry.

Defective Gas Range Causes Death Of Two Tots

CABINET WILL CONSIDER SALE OF ALL SHIPPING PROPERTY OF U.S. SUBJECT TO PERFORMANCE BY THE PURCHASERS

St. Augustine, Fla., March 30.—A concrete plan to stop losses of the Shipping Board and American merchant marine will be taken up by the cabinet immediately upon the President's return to Washington.

This plan, to be taken in view of the failure of the ship subsidy bill in the expiring Congress, is to take steps to dispose of the fleet.

FULL ENFORCEMENT PLAN EMBODIED IN 4 COMPANION BILLS

Harrisburg, Pa., March 29.—Governor Pinchot's prohibition enforcement legislation now before the General Assembly is a series of four new bills, each providing in the administration of the law new features that will undoubtedly give Pennsylvania the most thorough enforcement machinery in the country, if approved by the Assembly.

Under the Snyder-Armstrong law, which Governor Pinchot signed on Tuesday night, the licensed saloon is gone, but restrictions against the sale of near-beer are entirely removed. Saloons can open on every corner, in every city and county which by judicial or any other regulation have for years been dry. Grocers and storekeepers of all kinds can sell beverages of any kind that come within the regulations of the Volstead law.

But Governor Pinchot now aims to regulate just what beverages can be sold and through the introduction of a cereal beverage measure by Representative Benjamin H. Ludlow, Montgomery county, such restrictions will be placed over the manufacture and sale of beer in the state that it will be impossible for any high voltage alcoholic beverages to issue from any establishment.

Every drop of beer that goes forth from breweries, if the Ludlow bill becomes a law, will have to be tested by state inspectors who are created under the bill. Every brewer will have to be licensed by both federal and state government and every container that goes forth from breweries will have to bear a certificate from the state that the beer or other beverage contains less than one-half of one per cent alcohol.

It is through this bill that Governor Pinchot hopes to stop the flow of high voltage beer. Another measure carries strict regulations for the manufacture and sale for commercial and medical purposes of intoxicating liquors and also requires a license.

The Governor's strongest stroke for enforcement is found in the new administration code volume of hundreds of pages which is slowly being studied by those who have access to the few typewritten copies on hand.

The code provides that the Department of Justice shall have power and its duty shall be with the approval of the Governor.

"To investigate any violation of alleged violations of the laws of the commonwealth which may come to its notice.

"To take such steps and adopt such means as may be reasonably necessary to enforce the laws of the commonwealth."

The code goes even further in that it permits the Attorney General, upon a written request from a presiding judge in any county, to assign a deputy Attorney General to take charge of criminal cases where the case is deemed to be a proper one for the commonwealth's intervention. This will give Governor Pinchot and his Department of Justice power to supervise District Attorneys who are making an effort to secure conviction of dry law violators.

Under the code the Public Service Commission would be entirely reorganized June 1, 1923 and the

The government would sell the huge fleet of ships on the following conditions: First, an agreement by private buyers to keep necessary routes of trade open. Second, point out to buyers the routes most fertile in prospects which would not hurt trade conditions at present. Third, willingness of the operators to develop new markets and routes.

BURNHAM DIES OF BULLET WOUNDS INFLECTED BY GIRL

New York, March 30.—Frederick Burnham, a wealthy contractor, died today from bullet wounds inflicted by Helene Zeigler, who shot and killed herself upon discovery that he was married.

Burnham lived with his wife in a fashionable part of Debbis Ferry. Miss Zeigler, who is 26 years old, lived with her parents. The young woman, it is reported, said she "could marry Burnham at any time." Sudden disclosure of the fact that he was married is believed to have driven her insane.

FOUR ARE KILLED IN CRASH OF AUTO AND BIG "4" TRAIN

Columbus, O., March 30.—Four persons were killed and a score injured when a Big Four passenger train crashed into an automobile at Clintonville, a village five miles north of here.

Deaths List Increases

Columbus, Ohio, March 30.—Six are known dead and a score injured in a wreck of a Big Four Passenger train which crashed into an automobile here today at Clintonville, a suburb north of here. The speeding train was making up lost time.

The automobile suddenly jerked out on the crossing, stalled for an instant, and then the crash. The engine applied all his brakes, stopping so suddenly the entire train was derailed, the locomotive burying its self in the wreckage of the next four cars overturning and piling up.

PARENTS CITIZENS OF U. S. BUT SON IS TO BE DEPORTED

Syracuse, N. Y., March 30.—Sammy Goldman just returned to Russia despite the fact that his parents are United States citizens. This was the decision of the United States Health Board today ordering the deportation of the boy on the ground he is slightly under the mental standard for his years.

prevent commission of seven members would be reduced to five to be appointed by the Governor.

Governor Pinchot is expected to address a joint session of the House and Senate next Tuesday at noon to discuss the code, the educational program, and finances. It is now generally accepted that the emergency tax of an increase of 12 1/2 per cent on all state taxes for the next two years will be the measure adopted to acquire the additional revenue needed for the conduct of the state government during the biennium for which appropriation are to be made.

SOVIET HEEDLESS OF WORLD APPEAL FOR PRIEST'S LIFE

Moscow, March 30.—Vicar General Budkevich, a leader of the Catholic church in Russia, must die for resistance against the Bolshevik system. The life of Archbishop Zepiak will be spared.

The sentence of Archbishop Zepiak is commuted to ten years imprisonment. The Vicar General, however, in the official decision of the committee, is guilty of high treason because he conspired "with enemies of the state" while Russia was at war with Poland.

During the course of the meeting the president read a draft of a proposed law now before the Legislature which provides for care and treatment of crippled children when the parents are too poor or too indifferent to have them properly educated or treated, and after considerable discussion the chair appointed Messrs. M. M. Overly, L. R. Browne, and Wm. H. Wilson a committee to look into the merits of the bill and report at next week's meeting.

James Kerr, who represented the Clearfield club at the district convention at Frederick, Md., made a highly interesting report of that convention and incidentally launched a boom for Henry Kieffer of the Clearfield club for Governor of Maryland.

DUBOIS ALDERMAN COMMITS WOMAN WITH BABE TO JAIL

Score Alderman Borden for Action In Sending Wife of Hunted Man to Jail In His Stead.

STILL STANDS P A T

The State police operating in the DuBois region are "putting the works" on a lot of moonshiners these days, having dug up ten or a dozen different violators of the law the past two or three weeks.

Tuesday the home of a farmhand named Yankovich was raided and a quantity of contraband liquor and the "main" was captured. The man of the house managed to escape but the officers not to be balked of their prey proceeded to get his wife, Mrs. Tefolia Yankovich, under arrest.

The woman was then taken to Alderman J. G. Borden and a charge of violating the liquor law was made against her. The Alderman ordered her to produce $1,000 bail and when she was unable to do so he committed her to the Clearfield county jail.

The woman who is the mother of five children, the eldest of whom is but nine years of age, with a screaming baby at her breast, was brought over to Clearfield on the morning train and delivered over to the custody of the sheriff. Before leaving some the woman Mrs. Tefolia Yankovich, arranged with a neighbor to look after three of her little tots and brought the youngest and oldest children with her.

Alderman Censured.

Imagine a woman and a nursing baby imprisoned in the Clearfield county jail. When the prisoner was brought into the Sheriff's office, Clerk Jones, who was in charge during the absence of Sheriff Loomis, who is a witness at Court in Lehigh Haven, realizing they had no place to put the woman at the jail, took her and her little ones before Judge Day and when he explained the situation to the Court, he'll bet the case of the committing Alderman "burned some" when Judge Day got through saying what he thought. An order was then made directing that the woman and her little ones be placed in the County Home until the case could be investigated or other disposition made.

Borden's Statement.

When the case was called to the attention of Alderman Borden by the Progress he expressed great surprise that any objection could be found to his act which he said was nothing more than his plain duty under the law. He further stated that no more objection could be found to his action than the committing magistrate in the case of Joe and Mrs. Langer. These two people were able to get bail. Would they not have both been committed, had they been unable to get bail, the Alderman said.

The Alderman further stated: "This woman has committed the second offense within two years. In 1921 when her husband was in jail serving a sentence for manufacturing and selling white milk she was in need of help, but had applied for relief from county, and when Mr. Weimer, the County Commissioner, went to her home to investigate, she closed the door and did not let him in the house, because she was swallowing white milk at the time. This time when police tried to arrest her husband after finding in her possession a still and mash, she sent her husband away. Then officers swore out a warrant for her, and when she was arrested and her sister came to bail her out, she told her that she did not want bail, and she evidently wanted to go to jail."

Tug Capsizes, Causing Death Of Four; Five In Critical Condition

Elizabethville, N. C., March 30.—Four men perished and five others are in a serious condition as a result of the capsizing of the tug Julia Bleetwood in Albemarle Sound yesterday during a high gale.

The men died from cold and exposure in the gale which blew in from the Atlantic. The others of the crew were almost unconscious when rescued.

BARS OFFER TO DRINK SAMPLE

Philadelphia, March 30. A man accused of selling liquor alleged to be poisoned offered to drink a sample of it at a hearing before a Federal commission today when he was held in $5,000 bail for court.

"Sure, I'll drink that. I always drink it," said Joseph Levy, when W. J. McClure, government agent showed a sample he said he bought from Levy and dared him to drink it. "No you can't drink it," McClure said. "We would lose the case with it."

Snow and colder tonight, tomorrow fair.

SMALLPOX WAS SMALLPOX IN CLEARFIELD IN 1872

Boro Dads Had A Real Problem On Their Hands When German Music
Teacher Became A Borough Charge

Old Council Records Reveals Bills
Paid For Emergency Hospital
And Tie Straps For Patient

KEPT HIM TIED UP

While delving into the official history of Clearfield, as recorded in the minutes of the town Council back fifty-two years ago, we ran across an interesting and now more or less laughable chapter in the lives of our earlier Clearfielders. This incident, while contrasting the methods of taking care of the public health fifty years ago, with the present capable manner in which such visitations are taken care of now serves to show while present day methods are preferable to the old, it was almost as expensive then to get sick as it is now to go to a hospital for treatment.

But to get back to what we started out to talk about. Along about the middle of April, 1872, Prof. Hets, a German singer and music teacher, arrived in Clearfield and put up at Colburn's Hotel, where S. I. Snyder's residence now stands. Shortly after the Professor arrived he was taken sick and Dr. T. J. Boyer, then one of the town's leading medics, was called and found Herr Professor to be afflicted with smallpox. Vaccination was not so general then as now and smallpox was smallpox in those days, and what a commotion that case raised. A "hurry up" meeting of the Borough Dads was held and after lengthy and serious discussion a vacant house on Hillsdale, belonging to the late A. M. Hills, was taken over as a hospital—the term "pest house" hadn't been coined as yet—and the suffering Professor taken there as soon as it could be furnished and fixed up some.

Davy Lewis, an old time miner, and quite a character in his day, who then lived in the Brawley home near Hillsdale school house, who had had the smallpox in England, was appointed head nurse and keeper of the sick man. Knowing whiskey to be a preventative Davy one day took an overcoat and relapsing his usual vigilance his patient, in a fit of delirium, got out of bed and in his "sart tail" pardon the term—with a shawl such as men wore those days in lieu of overcoats, on, started down over the hill to come to town.

Talk about unlawful assembly, a panic or what not, you should have seen your fathers and mothers, aunt and uncles when the word got abroad that the smallpox patient had escaped from the hospital and was at large.

The whole town's population started in the general direction of the Professor, who was finally discovered on Clark street about the intersection of Walnut but everybody was afraid to go near him. He was held up on the road for a time when Ed Mack and David Charles, brave then in the test, and spurred on by the offer of $25 each for capturing the sick man, stepped up to the Professor and taking hold of him led him back to the "hospital."

Then deciding to guard against any future unseemly occurrences, and as a money-saver no doubt, the Town Council which was composed of W. C. Foley, L. L. Reizenstein, A. I. Shaw, Walter Barnett, J. M. Adams, with G. L. Reed as Burgess and A. W. Lee, secretary of Council, ordered a large strap from John C. Harwick, harness maker, with which Keeper Lewis could strap the sick man to his bed to guarantee his being there when wanted.

The Herr Professor was strong and vigorous naturally and managed to pull through the smallpox but he

Don't delay fighting constipation with BRAN that is ALL BRAN!

When constipation flashes its signs of sickness into your eyes and cheeks, into your breath, your brain and your appetite, it is absolutely necessary that you head it off! Toxic poisoning stands close by; Bright's disease and other dangerous diseases await their turn!

The remedy that nature offers is the simplest and most effective—Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, which is ALL BRAN! And it is ALL BRAN! It is ALL BRAN you need when you are art to fight constipation. You can't afford to delay a minute and you can't afford to use half way measures with foods that contain a percentage of bran! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran because it is not only effective, but because it is like a flavor, which adds so much to any food with which it is served.

Be certain to eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—at least two tablespoonsful daily; in chronic cases with each meal. Results will prove astounding. Remember that Kellogg's Bran is nature's own regulator, which operates in nature's way—which is the best way! Eat Kellogg's Bran as a cereal, sprinkled on other hot or cold cereals, or make it up into the best of puddings, pancakes, waffles, breads, cookies, macaroons. Kellogg's recipes are printed on each package. Let the children eat Kellogg's Bran. It is wonderfully beneficial. It will improve their health just as it will really and truly make over men and women. The value of Kellogg's Bran cannot be overestimated. Sold universally by grocers.

ANOTHER SCHOOL HOUSE
BURNED

Fire resulting from a defective flue in the Hetrick school house at Clearfield, north of DuBois, caused the destruction of that building Thursday evening. The fire was discovered about 11:15 o'clock, while classes were in session, but under the direction of Miss Bingham, the teacher, and the pupils were marched out in safety.

People living in the vicinity, deeply alarmed when they saw the flames and smoke, rushed to the scene to contain it if all of the children were out in safety. After this fact was ascertained, steps were taken to subdue the flames, but they had recurred so fast and nothing could be done. A few class books were saved, it is probable that the building will be rebuilt at once.

NEW POSTOFFICE ROOM
FOR OSCEOLA MILLS

Postoffice Inspector W. M. Calvert has closed a lease with the Masonic lodge at Osceola Mills for a room in the new Masonic temple now about completed, at that place for quarters for the postoffice and possession will be taken within the next week.

The building in which the Masonic lodge was quarantined was destroyed by fire about a year ago and a fine new one has been erected on Lingle and streets. A portion of the first floor has been taken over by the government for postoffice purposes.

PASSES AWAY AT REYNOLDSVILLE

Reynoldsville, Pa. 29.—Mrs. Rose Day, at the age of 100 years, three months and 21 days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Foley, of Reynoldsville, just after midnight. Pneumonia caused the death of the aged lady after an illness of but a few days. Her mind was clear and active until the last. She was able to get about with surprising ability for a woman of her advanced years.

The deceased was born in Ireland on December 4th, 1822, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McKeown and came to this country when a young woman. She was married in this country, her husband dying many years ago. Before coming to Reynoldsville he had been making her home with her daughter in Grampian. She had been a resident of Reynoldsville for the past ten years. She was a remarkable woman in many ways other than from the point of longevity. Always a healthy, hard working woman, of deep religious conviction, she made and held a lot of friends in Reynoldsville in the time she lived there. Bright and active, witty, kindly and a faithful member of the Roman Catholic church her death is keenly felt by people in the vicinity of Reynoldsville, and other sections of the country.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Foley, of Reynoldsville, and a daughter in Montana.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning and the body taken to Grampian where it will be laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery there.

What is Fastest Living Animal?
Man makes a poor show, for the speed of his best sprinters is little more than 20 miles an hour. For some time it was thought that the cheetah, which covers a running mile in about 11 seconds, could do better, but his speed, which works out at just over 40 miles an hour, is nowhere when compared with that of the antelope, who is capable of reaching a speed of over 60 miles an hour and of keeping it up for some time. What of the gazelle? The great speed and hissing noise give a false impression of his speed. The race of the fastest runner on the race track is not much more than 30 miles an hour.

never looked the same. As he became convalescent some of his German-American friends, who did not like the idea of his isolation and subsequent treatment, began an agitation to have the Professor released, whereupon a special session of the Council held April 24, 1872, a resolution was passed which provided "that Prof. Hetz be required to stay at the hospital until the doctor in attendance ordered his release."

This first enforcement of quarantine regulations was an expensive luxury as at this meeting of Council the following bill was ordered paid:—

Ed Mack and David Charles, catching Prof Hetz ..... $50.00
Then at the meeting of May 6, 1872, Dr. Boyer was paid $250 for professional services; H. F. Bigler & Co. $34.25 for cooking, utensils, etc., for hospital, and at the meeting of June 3d, 1872, the job was cleaned up by paying the following bills incident to the case:—

A. M. Hills (for D. Lewis' guard) ..... $251.45
M. G. Brown & Bro., meat ..... 7.75
Jno. Gulich, furniture ..... 19.50
F. Leitzinger, bread ..... 3.26
I. L. Reizenstein, clothing ..... 11.00
I. L. Reizenstein, cash advanced patient ..... 4.20
Mrs. E. O. Clements, bedding ..... 21.75
Richard Mossop, gen'l sups. .... 23.71
A. I. Shaw, gen'l sups. .... 57.93
Isaac Swales, gen'l sups. .... 20.25
Henry Ribling, nailing up hospital ..... 5.00

Some few weeks after their experience with Prof. Hetz Council was called upon to battle with another smallpox scare, as David Buck, one of the then County Commissioners of Clearfield county, who resided on Bridge street, returned home from a convention he had been attending and developed the smallpox shortly after returning home. He was allowed to remain in his home, where he died in the latter part of June, 1872. Following his death a fellow named McGirk, who also had suffered an attack of smallpox and was therefore immune, was given $100 for burying him. McGirk got a horse and wagon from liveryman Geo. W. Gearhart and at 11 o'clock at night took the remains from the Buck home to the old cemetery, where John Barclay had a grave dug ready for it and with the assistance of James Reed, for which Jim got $10, buried Mr. Buck.

These bills were paid July 1, 1872
McGirk for burying D. Buck $100.00
James Reed, help burying D. Buck ..... 10.00
James A. Moore, coal hos. .... 2.70
T. J. Boyer, carrying provision to Prof. Hetz ..... 40.00

At the meeting of Council Sept. 2, 1872, the following bills were paid incidental to the Buck case:—
E. Mossop, supplies D. Buck .. $1.40
G. W. Gearhart, horse and lantern ..... 5.00
J. C. Harwick, strap for Prof Hetz ..... 1.00
Jno. Barclay, digging grave, Buck ..... 5.00
Mrs. D. Buck, clothing dest. .... $58.00
Mrs. Buck's bill was for bed clothing, etc., burned by order of the Council to prevent spread of the disease and being rather frugally inclined the Borough Fathers deducted the $5.00 paid John Barclay for digging the grave for her husband and awarded Mrs. Buck the remaining $53.00.

of smallpox. The Babcock family then resided on Pine street where Mrs. McGarvey lives.

"The Panhandle."

As commonly used in this part of the country, the phrase "the panhandle" usually refers to the north-west projection of Texas, though the name is also given to the narrow, wedge-shaped strip of land lying between Pennsylvania and Ohio, which forms part of the state of West Virginia.

Finished the job.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded gray hair to its natural color is a fact. It is a time-tested, beautiful, dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

SAY "BAYER" when you buy Aspirin

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product. Aspirin is a name which contains proper directions. Prescribed by physicians over twenty years and proved safe by millions of patients. Aspirin is the standard for colds, headache, toothache, neuritis, neuralgia, lumbago, rheumatism, and for pain in general. Accept only Bayer Aspirin.

The Absurdity of "Dollar Gasoline"

WITHIN the last few weeks you have seen newspaper headlines containing the words "dollar gasoline." You have read the prediction that by alleged manipulation of prices the cost of gasoline may be raised to a prohibitive figure.

As a motorist, this concerns you greatly. You may have asked "What truth is there in it?"

Your own good judgment will give the correct answer. If gasoline cost a dollar a gallon, how much would you use?

There are twelve million other motorists who feel as you do. To put the price at a prohibitive figure would lessen motoring to such an extent that very little market for gasoline would remain. Huge refineries would be idle. The petroleum industry would lose the business which it has labored fifty years to cultivate.

To raise the price of gasoline to an unreasonable figure would be not only foolish but impossible.

Gasoline is the product of a competitive industry

There are approximately

14,000 separate and independent producers of crude oil;

450 separate refiners producing gasoline;

4,000 separate wholesalers or marketing companies.

Competition is keen. As the price of gasoline goes up, production is increased until demand is overtaken and the price falls again. As long as supplies of crude oil are ample, competition alone will keep the price of gasoline reasonable.

The petroleum industry is making gasoline to be sold. Its chief interest lies in maintaining a market. You can depend upon the refiners to produce gasoline as economically and efficiently as possible. You can depend upon their selling it at a reasonable price because that is good business.

You need not fear "dollar gasoline."

The one thing which motorists should fear is unreasonable government regulation which would handicap the petroleum industry as it has hindered the railroads. Such regulation would undoubtedly increase the cost of gasoline.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Why the date of Easter Sunday varies from year to year forms one of the most remarkable problems in all history. The Easter festival as now celebrated was not held during any centuries of the Christian Era. The first Christians, being mostly rescued from the Jewish race, at first made no change of their ancient Passover.

But by the end of the first century Gentiles became Christians from the religion of the Greeks, Syrians and Romans. They wanted to substitute Jesus for the Paschal lamb of ancient Israel.

Then the world-famous contention arose and existed during centuries regarding the times of celebration.

Those of Jewish descent held that the death of Jesus would be the date of ending the Paschal fast, always from Exodus from Egypt on the 14th day of the moon in the evening. The basing time on the changes of the moon had the astronomical effect that Easter may occur on any day of the week.

But the Christians from the Gentiles wanted it forever on the first day of the week, Sunday.

The difference became acute. Thus the Friday proceeding would be observed as the date of the crucifixion without paying any attention to the day of the month, the fast continuing until midnight Saturday. That is one wished to observe the traditional day of the week, the other of the moon.

The great point of this noted controversy was that of observing or not the fourteenth day of the moon in the Hebrew month Nisan, their new year our March. The trouble was caused by the irregularities of the time of full moon in reference to the year.

The Hebrew sacred year began, as ours ought to, at the time of the vernal equinox, the instant when the center of the sun crosses the plane of the earth's equator coming north. But the variations occur always in times of full moon.

Troubles increased until the council of Nice A. D. 325. Not being able to predict accurately, since the tables, now based on mathematics, had not been worked out. Thus in A. D. 327 they held Easter in Gaul on March 21, in Italy April 18, in Egypt April 25.

Finally this rule was adopted: Easter shall be the first Sunday after the fourteenth day of the moon which happens on or next after March 21.

This Easter will occur on March 23, A. D. 2002, 2160, 2226, 2280. And on April 23, 2000, 2079. It will fall on April 1 in 1923, 1934, 1945, 1956, 2012.

For present day Clearfielders recall the old Catholic cemetery on South Second street upon the site now occupied by St. Francis church. Borough Council passed a resolution decreasing that no burials should be made therein on and after August 1, 1870, and the cemetery was then removed to the site presented by the late James L. Leavy, beyond Hillsdale.

More than $500,000,000 is invested in the petroleum industry in Mexico. American interests lead with 60 per cent of the total; British have 13 per cent and the Dutch 7 per cent.

Cures for baldness and systems for reducing waists were advertised so far back as 1755. A medical book, compiled by John Wesley, of Methodist fame, on display in the Hardin County, Ohio, court house, gives the following advice to bald men of long ago:

"Rub the bald spot morning and evening with onions till it is red and rub it afterwards with honey."

The following recommendation to fat men and women, wishing to reduce, is obtained in the aged book:

"Use a vegetable diet. I know one who was entirely cured of this by living thus: breakfasted and supped on rice and water (with bread) and dined on turnips, carrots and other roots, drinking water."

LOCAL BOY MAKES SPORT RECORD AT YALE

Harold J. Boulton, of the Class of 1923, is one of the men who have made possible a winning season for the Yale fencing team, and he will have a chance to further demonstrate his prowess with the epee in the coming meet with Harvard, on April 7th, and in the intercollegiate at New York, April 12th and 13th.

Having had no experience in fencing prior to the time when he came out for the Freshman fencing squad a year ago last fall, Boulton has rapidly developed into a skillful swordsman under the brilliant tutelage of Coach Grasson. He specializes in the epee, although he fought with the sabre in the meets with Dartmouth and M. I. T. The former weapon, often called the duelling sword, has been his main standby, however. Using it he has contested against Cornell and the Army at West Point, and against Columbia, Pennsylvania, the Navy, and the Washington Fencers Club, the last named places being visited in the order given on the team's southern trip. For the whole season, to date, Boulton has an average of more bouts won than lost.

He entered the National Junior Epee Championship held at the French Y. M. C. A. in New York, last month, and reached the semi-finals before being eliminated.

All of this is rather an unusual record when considered, especially, in the light of the fact that this is only Boulton's second year at Yale, and that he has two more years on the varsity ahead of him.

Nor is fencing his only activity. He is one of the crack shots of the rifle team, having shot in practically every meet of the year, and getting perfect scores quite frequently. Of special note are the Transatlantic Cable matches with Oxford and Cambridge, both of which were won by Yale by good margins. At present Boulton ranks second on the rating list of the rifle team with a grand average for all the meets of 99.43 out of 100.

Ever since being at Yale, Boulton

has taken an active interest in crew. He was coxswain on one of the Freshman crews last year, and is now alternating between Sophomore A and Sophomore B. These crews have been rowing on the harbor for nearly two weeks.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vanessa began her life as a beautiful girl, and when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saved her from Sir Norman by shooting him, she was sent to a hospital. Sayers' wife and daughter, Lady Sayers, were captured and taken to a hospital. Sayers' wife and daughter, Lady Sayers, were captured and taken to a hospital. Sayers' wife and daughter, Lady Sayers, were captured and taken to a hospital.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Janet Is Talking:

"Wait here," she ordered, snatching the message from my hand. "There was a heavy swell that night, and I was glad to sit down upon my bunk. She returned in a very few moments. Her cheeks were flushed. She handed me back the message. Underneath it she had penciled the interpretation: 'Danger? It must be dealt with promptly. Look at it and shoot my head. I suppose I am a fool.' I admitted, 'but I can't understand a word.' 'You are a fool,' she agreed. 'No wonder Michael never trusted you with a code. It means that some one dangerous must be traveling in stateroom 37, who must be dealt with promptly by me—Louise—my name. Do you understand now?' 'But how could Michael know that I was on the steamer, and why should he have sent this message to me instead of to you?' I demanded. 'The chief of police at Marseilles has a copy of every passenger list of steamers leaving London and calling at Marseilles, forwarded overland,' she replied. 'Michael has a friend in the Bureau. It is possible that I can be kept in the dark. He knew quite well that I should find you out, and that I should be of more use than you were likely to be. Now to discover who is traveling in Stateroom 37.' She called to the steward, who was passing quickly. He unhooked the door and looked in. 'Steward, can you tell me the name of the gentleman in No. 37?' she inquired. 'Mr. Popple, madam—an American gentleman,' he answered. 'What are you going to do?' I asked. 'She smiled in a peculiar fashion. 'Obey, Michael,' she answered softly. The next morning, Mr. Popple came over and talked to me again. He had shown me from the first a considerable amount of attention, but his conversation had always been of the most ordinary kind. This morning, however, in the midst of a discussion on ladies' footwear, he broke off and addressed me in a different fashion. 'So you're making friends with the woman who looked as though she wanted to bite your head off at breakfast?' he remarked. 'I shouldn't have said so,' I replied. 'She was in your stateroom last night, wasn't she?' he queried. 'For a moment or two,' I admitted. 'Why not?' He watched the smoke from his cigar thoughtfully. 'I guess you've got common sense enough to take a word of advice,' he said. 'Here it is. Keep out of it. Keep out of what?' I demanded. He shrugged his shoulders. 'That's a fine school of poisons,' he observed, looking over the side of the ship. 'I don't know as I've ever seen a finer in these waters.' 'In other words—' I ventured.

"GUESS I AM SICK, DOC. JUST STEP AROUND TO MY STATEROOM WITH ME FOR A MOMENT."

was in progress. I was surprised, therefore, to hear Mr. Popple suddenly address the doctor, who had joined me again for a few minutes. 'Just a moment, Doc,' Mr. Popple seemed to rise with difficulty to his feet. 'Guess I am sick, Doc. Just step round to my stateroom with me for a moment.' Mr. Popple, suddenly very pale, swayed on his feet and clutched at the doctor's arm. I expected every moment to see him collapse. We all turned to Louise. She shook her head, apparently as bewildered as the rest of us. 'We had just finished our coffee,' she explained. 'When Mr. Popple, who had been talking a great deal, became silent. He spoke of a pain in his head, and I thought he seemed queer. Then he called out to the doctor. That is all I know about it.' By degrees the others melted away. I sank into Mr. Popple's vacant chair. As soon as we were alone, Mrs. Louise Martin looked at me covertly. 'There was a flash of triumph in her half-closed eyes. 'So?' she murmured. 'I do not think that Mr. Popple will follow me about Marseilles.' 'Do you mean that you have poisoned him?' I asked. She looked at me with a queer little smile. 'Some,' she said, 'prefer to shoot I choose the way of safety.' Then I knew that Michael had told her everything. In that moment, all that I had ever felt of love for him turned to hate. (Continued in Our Next Issue)

We entered the harbor at Marseilles on the following morning. I felt a thrill as we came to anchor. The harbor was a beautiful sight. The city was a beautiful sight. The harbor was a beautiful sight. The city was a beautiful sight. The harbor was a beautiful sight. The city was a beautiful sight.

"Look there," I said, directing her attention cautiously toward the lighthouse. She looked at him for a moment without interest. Then suddenly the change came into her face. She clutched at my arm. "There is danger," she muttered. "He has been obliged to flee. Alas, our week at the Villa exists no longer!" A moment afterward, there was a movement toward the gangway. I followed the others off the ship, and waited until a magnificent-looking functionary, smelling of garlic, had made my way to a piece of chalk upon my modest trunk. The porter shouldered it and turned to me for instructions. "A carriage to the Hotel Splendide," I directed. I was on the point of entering it when I felt a touch upon my arm. "He insists upon seeing you," she whispered in a low tone. "Where are you going?" "To the Hotel Splendide," I told her with a sinking heart. "I shall fetch you tonight at six o'clock."

"Where are we going?" I demanded. "To the only place where Michael can hide in safety," Louise replied. "Even the police of Marseilles would scarcely dare to seek him here." We stopped at last at the end of a dark and narrow street, a place so quiet and sinister that I hesitated to leave the vehicle. Louise, however, elbowed me out and half-pushed, half-conducted me along an entry, with a high wall on either side, a slimy place with the swirl of waves distinctly audible. At the extreme end she pushed open a door on the left-hand side. We found ourselves in a cave of the poorest class, with sandal floors and iron table. A woman, fat and with a hideous face, stood behind the bar. Louise went straight to the woman and whispered in her ear. The woman, who had at least three or four chins, nodded ponderously and smiled, showing a row of yellow, discolored teeth. She glanced cautiously around the place, as though to make sure that no stranger was among her clientele. Then, with a fat, beribboned finger, she beckoned us behind the counter and led us down some steps, along a passage, into a somber and featureless-looking apartment. The room was furnished with a cracked gilt mirror upon the mantelpiece, walls reeking with damp, and some violet plush chairs of incredible shabbiness. In the corner was a bed, and upon it Michael was seated, still in his disguise of a French courier, but with a new look upon his face—the hunted, desperate look of a man at bay. "You devil!" he said to me slowly and menacingly. "It is you who have brought your damned lover-policeman here!" "It is false," I replied. "I came to Marseilles for a holiday only." "A holiday?" Michael repeated bitterly.

KLANK GETS SEVERE JOLT IN LOUISIANA

New Orleans, March 28.—Opponents of the Ku Klux Klan today had won the first open test of political strength and the most sweeping victory at the polls since reconstruction days when Judge H. F. Brunt, of Baton Rouge, who campaigned on a platform of opposition to the Klan, ran away from two other candidates and into the nomination for associate justice of the Louisiana Supreme Court by a majority of from 500,000 to 800,000 votes.

Public Opinion.
Public opinion is often wrong in the beginning. It is always right in the end. And the reason is that at first, it is formed by the passions of the unthinking many, ignorant of mankind, but interested in passing events; at last, on the reason of the thinking few whose judgment had been enlightened by experience to whom alone the past is an object of interest and by whom the verdict of posterity is formed.—Allison.

Eliminate the Grads.
There are not many houses that do not shelter at least one hideous piece of furniture. This may be a chair with ugly legs or with absurdly carved arms, or which a lion grows or an eagle threatens or it may be an old-fashioned sideboard with all sorts of meaningless ornaments. (The gold lines in furniture cannot make golden oak beautiful, and yet much of this is still found in homes in which an effort to achieve beauty is made. Often it is by clanking away the night, strikingly ugly pieces that have only been achieved. The idea that only by adding to the objects in the house can one add to the beauty of the interior is far from correct.)

New Organ of Balance.
Dr. G. A. Vail, the Italian medical specialist, has discovered that birds and bats have a sense organ or vesicle situated on the middle wall of the trachea (drum) cavity of their ears. When this is removed they seem to lose all sense of balance. Vail concluded that this organ, which reacts to variations of pressure within the middle ear, thus enables the bird to determine the density of the air through which it is moving, and regulates its muscular movements accordingly.

Commercial Candor.
Refreshing reading was provided by the advertisement of a new photo play, recently, to the effect that "This picture did not cost a million dollars, nor anything like a quarter of a million, to produce, but still we believe it to be a good film." Candor like this cannot but make a good impression on the reader, to whom claims of extravagant sums spent in the movie studios, with results that many persons feel justified in characterizing as worthless, have come to mean little. Somewhat unfair to themselves, patrons found, were the managers of a rummage sale who placed over one of their counters the following sign:

James Harvey, Bloomington avenue, received the sad intelligence yesterday forenoon that his eldest son, Walter Harvey, had met an instant death in the coal mines at Dixonville, Indiana county, at about the hour of 11 o'clock a. m. Wednesday. He was riding out a trip when a car left the mine, throwing him against a live wire and electrocuted him. Death resulted almost instantly. His age was 36 years, 11 months and 4 days. Deceased is survived by a widow and five children, besides his father, four sisters and three brothers. The remains will be brought to Curwensville on Friday via the 10:30 New York Canal train, and conveyed to Oak Hill cemetery, where a short service will be conducted by Rev. B. H. Conly, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Shedding His Horns.

The matter of the growth, development and shedding of the horns of the American antelope has always been a question of abiding interest. For a long time it was stoutly disputed that the animal shed its horns, and the subject constantly found its way into the sporting journals and magazines. I had the honor of being in at one of these, and the question arose by attention being called to it in an article by a retired officer of the army. In a somewhat elaborate article, this writer strongly denied that the antelope ever shed its horns, and the editor of the forementioned magazine invited me to take the matter up for him. My opinion was that his correspondent was wrong, as the shedding of the horns of this animal has now been known to science for many years, and has been carefully studied and described by a great many competent naturalists.—Dr. R. W. Bhafield, in American Forestry Magazine.

Her Idea of a Show.

Wherever two or three are gathered together the current plays are sure to be discussed. A luncheon the Woman attended the other day was no exception to the rule. One enthusiast waxed eloquent over the merits of a play at a downtown theater. Turning to the country cousin who was visiting the friend on her right, the Woman asked if she had enjoyed it. Soberly came the reply: "Can't say I liked it much. Why, there wasn't an evening gown in the whole show."

Faithful Know No Mercy.

In the days when gull wings and bustles were in demand for women's hats and when the law afforded no protection to the feathered tribes, they were slaughtered by thousands all along the coast. Millinery agents from New York would conduct expeditions, accompanied by expert skinners, to the breeding grounds of the seafowl and hire local gunmen to do the killing. One woman in a single season brought back 10,000 tern skins from Cuba island, Virginia. More than 500,000 tern skins were collected in one season in the south of North and South Carolina.

TURN ME OVER

Tests for Car-Driving Ability Should Be Varied According to Tasks

By DR. RAYMOND DODGE, Wesleyan University.

Slow and uncertain or wavering actions are undoubtedly the occasion of many automobile accidents. This slowness is in part due to lack of practice and training and in part due to the natural tendencies of the individual. Both of these factors can be made matters of test.

Tests for car-driving ability should be varied according to the sort of tasks which the drivers are called upon to perform. Tests for drivers of light pleasure vehicles might be very different from tests for drivers of fast ambulances and fire appliances, and they in turn might be quite different from tests for drivers of heavy motor trucks. High-powered fast machines obviously should not be entrusted to poor or relatively untrained chauffeurs. A specific form of test for various types of machines is good common sense and good science.

It is notorious that tests for drivers in one community are entirely different from tests in other communities. Licenses from different localities are quite incomparable in value. It is obvious that the same ability to drive is not required on a country road as in the city, but if the farmer is to drive into town, he must be able to handle his machine under city traffic conditions or else not be allowed to come in. Standard tests would help remedy this situation.

America Is Cursed Today With a Lot of Spineless Would-Be Reformers

By SHERIFF W. E. ROBB, Former A. E. F. Chaplain.

The state has established that the man is guilty beyond a reasonable doubt; that he murdered without cause; that he showed no mercy; that he was a menace to life—therefore it has decreed he must die, for that is the law of the state as passed by the will of the people. The law is the will of the majority and the death penalty for murder the people have imposed upon themselves as a method of restraint.

Brainless men and women who have no ability to think, who believe in free license and rebel against all law—those will condemn and spout as usual.

Unthinking religious fanatics will plead and pray and forget that God is a God of justice and mercy, and that judgment is as much a duty of love as mercy is the delight of love. They forget that love, while the greatest of all laws, is the most perfect in its working and the most exacting in its demands.

America is cursed today with a lot of spineless, unthinking, cowardly, would-be reformers, editors, speakers, who crave approval more than they crave to be right.

They with one accord will all condemn a minister of the gospel for performing the duties of the state. They think of a minister as a useless, spineless creature.

Taking another's life, hurling some one over the precipice for eternity, is the most terrible of all tasks. I am going to hang Orrie because it is my duty and because there is no way to evade that task except the way of the coward. The memory of it will be with me always. I would to God there were some way out of it, but there is not.

Hard Manual Labor the Rest of His Life for Necessities of Life

By SENATOR H. L. MYERS, of Montana.

Every dollar of the German kaiser's fortune should be taken away from him by the entente allies; he should be stripped of every dollar that he has and rendered penniless and required to go out and work at hard manual labor the remainder of his life for the necessities of life.

The German kaiser is marrying, making merry, eating, drinking, feasting and dancing, while his victims writhe in torture or suffer the pangs of hunger and untold want. He is reputed to be one of the richest men in the world.

I repeat that every dollar of his money should be taken away from him; he should be stripped of every penny of his fortune, and it should be applied to the reparations due France and other countries wronged by Germany and to the payment of damages to this country for the sinking of the Lusitania and various other indignities and losses inflicted unlawfully upon our people by Germany.

It was a shop detective, hidden in a gallery above and watching with the aid of reflecting mirrors, who at last detected the trick.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
Whereas the Officers and Members of Washington Camp No. 372, O. S. of A. of Woodland, Penna. learned with profound sorrow of the death of our late brother William Lytle, March 19th, 1923, and in view of the great loss we have sustained, and the yet greater loss to his mother, we desire to preserve a record of his standing with his brothers in our camp. Therefore be it resolved that in the death of our brother the order has lost one of its most trusted members.
A man of strict integrity, and business rectitude, one who in his business as well as in his social life appeared faithfully to fill the measures of an honest, kind-hearted, God-fearing man. Resolved that in sympathy we send a copy of these resolutions to his mother in the hope that in her sorrow it may be of some comfort, and afford some consolation to her to know how we appreciated, respected and loved the son and only help she had, who was our brother.
Resolved that the symbol of our sorrow at the death of our brother shall be the draped charter which shall not again be unveiled until a period of three days shall have passed.

TO ORGANIZE ALL CHAPLAINS

Father O'Connor of Cincinnati Assumes Task to Increase Membership of the American Legion.

Father William P. O'Connor of Cincinnati, national chaplain of the American Legion, refuses to admit that the duties of his office are confined to the delivering of an invocation at the Legion national convention. In accordance with this belief, Father O'Connor has assumed the task of organizing all war chaplains in an effort to gain new members for the Legion.
William P. O'Connor is a fighting type, and his thirty-three years are full of interesting experience. Born in Dayton, O., he attended the public and parochial schools and was graduated from St. Mary's college, now the University of Dayton, in 1908. He was graduated from St. Mary's seminary and ordained in 1913, when he accepted an appointment as pastor of a church in Urbana, O.
He was serving there in July, 1917, when he became chaplain of an Ohio National Guard organization which later became the One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Field artillery of the Thirty-seventh division. He sailed with this organization for France in June, 1918. The ship, before completing the voyage, rammed a German submarine which later was sunk by destroyers.
Father O'Connor served with his organization in the Baccarat sector and later at St. Mihiel, the Meuse-Argonne and in Belgium. After the armistice he proved his versatility by arranging for the production of "The Passing Show of the A. E. F." one of the best soldier shows presented overseas.
The national chaplain obtained first-hand information in regard to the feelings of newly discharged veterans when he served for a time with national headquarters of the American Red Cross. Later he became pastor of a church at Jamestown, O., and subsequently was transferred to his present charge, the church of St. Vincent de Paul in Cincinnati.
He served as a member of the Legion's national ceremonial committee in 1921, which drew up the ceremonial which have been used by all Legion posts. In all classes of religious creeds and dogmas, Father O'Connor, has been noted for his marked liberality and toleration.

Another Lamb Anecdote.
The following story, which appears in an old volume of "Leigh Hunt's Journal," throws an interesting light on Charles Lamb's beautiful relations with his stricken sister, Mary: L. and his sister were one evening supping at Mrs. M.—a L. (with another person) had made his way to the bottom of the second bottle of port. "You really shall not have any more Charles," said his sister. "Pray, Mrs. M.—, don't give him any more." "You hear what your sister says, Mr. Lamb," observed Mrs. M.—, pouring out the remains of the port (which was thick) into his glass. "She is a person of mean capacity," said he. "I never listen to her. Try the next bottle, madame; for this is thick, and—how pitifully should run fine to the last!"
Buddham's Sacred Place.
Diamond mountain, in Korea, is a sacred place of Buddhism, the priests of which, coming from China in proselyting endeavor, settled there several centuries ago. Because, says the Christian Science Monitor, the Buddhists are true lovers, E. H. Wilson, on his expedition trip to Korea for the Asiatic Society of Boston, found that the woodman's ax or modern sawmill had invaded this area, and he discovered many new varieties of trees and flowers with which the United States and other countries will be enriched.

Fort Hamilton Famous.
When British troops forced a landing the first shot by an outpost of Colonial troops were fired from the spot which later became Fort Hamilton. Then it was known as Denyse's Ferry. After the disastrous battle of Long Island in 1776, a fort was built. Efforts to find the cornerstone laid in 1825 were not successful. "Stonewall" Jackson was baptized at the little church, now St. John's, and one of the historic landmarks in the city, when he was stationed at the fort in 1840. Capt. Robert E. Lee, later the noted Confederate army general, was for years in command of the post and was a vestryman of the church. The batteries have been manned for the last half century by officers who have won fame in a hundred fields in defense of their country.
Concerning Holland.
Holland is one of the few countries in the world that live up to the expectations of the traveler so far as looks are concerned, observes Kenneth L. Roberts in the Saturday Evening Post. The landscape is heavily sprinkled with windmills, canals and men and boys in overgrown bloomers. Stories sit around carelessly on the house chimneys in very melancholy attitudes. Life in Dutch cities is greatly slowed up by the canals. The natives of Rotterdam, for example, spend eight hours a day in sleeping, two hours and a half in eating, six hours in working and the rest of the time in waiting to get over the bridges across the canals. Taxicabs are seldom out of work in Rotterdam, for once a person gets into one he spends the rest of the day in front of open canal bridges. Americans who are weary of hearing Europeans speak approvingly of American dollar chasers will be interested to hear that Holland's coat of arms is said by resident Englishmen and Americans to represent two lions fighting over a guinea.

ROUNDS UP LEGION MEMBERS

W. A. Stevens, Commander of Des Moines (Ia.) Post, Promises to Have Largest Organization.

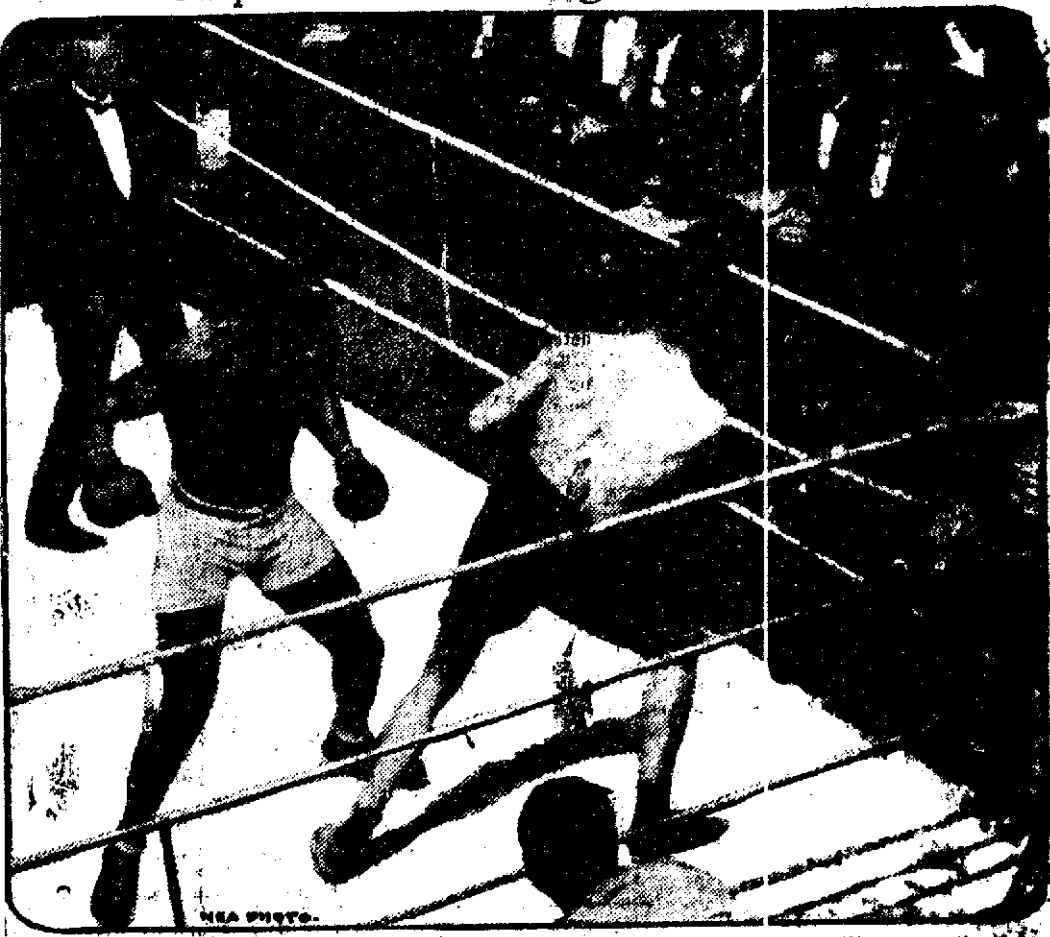

Any man who can go out and get 200 members to anything, even the American Legion, is worthy of attention. W. A. Stevens, newly elected commander of the Legion post of Des Moines, Ia., has the credit for getting one-tenth of the 2,000 members of his organization, the second largest post in the country.
During the war Stevens was a sergeant in the One Hundred and Ninth Ammunition train of the Thirty-fourth division. He spent 11 months at Camp Cody, N. M., and later went overseas. He has pledged himself to make his post the largest in the country and to lead it in participation in civic affairs.

Praises the Legion.
Phil D. Swing, a member of the house of representatives from California, has issued a statement praising the American Legion for its work in conducting American Education week. "As water will rise no higher than its source, so our republic will prove no wiser than the electorate from which it draws its authority and inspiration," Congressman Swing stated. "Hence, the all importance of seeing that every person admitted to participation in our government receives the necessary education to be able to understand the problems which confront our nation and to contribute his bit toward their intelligent solution. This applies with equal force to the native-born as well as to the naturalized citizen. The American Legion is doing a splendid peace-time service by boosting American Education week."

The Social Climber.
Old King Coal was a merry old soul. A merry old soul was he, said he: "Since I'm worth 'teen dollars a ton, I'm the pride of Societes."

Later advices were received by the state department which indicated that the soviet government had decided to postpone the execution decree.

RELIEF FOR DISABLED

American Legion Asks for Sixteen Changes in the War Risk Insurance Law.

Substantial relief will be given by proposed amendments to the war risk insurance act, requested by Joe Sparks, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, he enacted into law.

The Legion asks for 16 changes in the law, in order that veterans disabled as a result of their war service, not now receiving relief from the government, may be cared for by law.

Proposed amendments to the war risk insurance act requested by the Legion at a recent hearing follow:

1. That if the insurance of a neuro-psychiatric patient of the veterans' bureau has lapsed and he has not had a guardian appointed by court, that the director of the United States veterans' bureau be directed to appoint a guardian and to continue it in force.

2. To prevent the exhumation of the veterans' bureau from using their judgment as to whether a man's disability is of service origin when this disability was not present at the time of his enrollment in service.

3. That the word "pulmonary" be stricken from the law so that service men suffering from tuberculosis of the glands or lungs may become compensable.

4. That the period of separation from active service during which an ex-service man would be considered to have contracted tuberculosis automatically from service be extended to five years from the period of two years following discharge.

5. That the provision limiting to two years a man's automatic service connection when suffering from a neuro-psychiatric disease, be automatically extended to five years.

6. That burial expenses of $50 be added to provide for the transportation of the body and burial, and that this be extended to claimants of the bureau who die in institutions under the jurisdiction of the bureau, although they have not been a declared compensable.

7. That where a disabled veteran has been an inmate of a hospital or asylum during a continuous period of one year or more or whose such person has been totally disabled or totally and temporarily disabled for a continuous period of one year or more he shall be regarded as totally and permanently disabled.

8. Providing that the total permanent disability rating clause be amended to include the loss of the hearing of both ears as permanent and total disability.

9. That in no case shall the compensation of a disabled person be reduced unless a physical examination has been made since the last rating nor until he shall have been given at least three months' notice mailed to his last address of the bureau's intention to make a reduction.

10. To extend the period from one year of discharge or from August 9, 1922, to August 9, 1923, for obtaining certificates of disability.

11. To make certificates of disability irrevocable.

12. That the date by which government insurance must be converted to private insurance carrying a reserve shall be extended from 1921 to 1923.

13. That an applicant for reinstatement who suffers from a disability of service origin, and who is indigent may reinstate his government insurance and have the insurance premiums charged against the face of his policy.

14. To make permanent total disability payable to veterans whose insurance has lapsed, where compensation in excess of $100 was due.

15. To make insurance payable to beneficiaries, where a permanent total disabled veteran was denied reinstatement because of his condition, and has since died.

16. To provide that the veterans' bureau shall furnish all patients on discharge from hospital, a statement of the medical finding as to the condition of such patient.

17. To provide that the veterans' bureau shall furnish all patients on discharge from hospital, a statement of the medical finding as to the condition of such patient.

18. To provide that the veterans' bureau shall furnish all patients on discharge from hospital, a statement of the medical finding as to the condition of such patient.

LEGION MEN DEMAND ORDER

Carter County, Oklahoma, Guarded by Former Commander of Ardmore Post, Assisted by Buddies.

It is one thing to oratorically advocate the maintenance of law and order and another to get out and actually enforce these principles.

When Carter county, Oklahoma, tired of a reputation for lawlessness—a reputation unfortunately backed by occurrences—it sent for Ewing London, American Legion post commander, a former sailor and hand fighter, and told him to go to it.

Carter county said it with votes, giving a two-thirds majority to the young veterans of the World War. London got busy almost before the last precincts were heard from.

He first picked his active allies, ten deputies, all of them experienced in police work and the majority of them service and Legion men. Then he took stock of the forces of the enemy—reconnaissance, they called it in military circles.

Numbered among this genial tribe were peddlers, gun men, automobile drivers, hijackers, gamblers, yeggs and plain "bad men."

Not that Carter county merits or has merited, a particularly unsavory reputation. But it was late a border community, and of access to the lawless, attractive in its newness to their predatory instincts. There was a strong and growing better element in Carter county, the element that sought out Ewing London for the sheriff's place and elected him thereto.

London planned his campaign like a field officer. There was nothing impromptu about it. His slogan was, "Get the man on the top," and a raid that didn't produce the person of the directing genius in lawlessness was considered a failure.

Now London has been in office not quite a year and he and his men have made 900 arrests for violation of laws.

London has paid a tribute to the assistance of American Legion men in cleaning up Carter county. He was formerly commander of George B. Anderson post of Ardmore.

Patriotic Indianapolis Barber Supplies Tonsorial Attention to Disabled Soldiers in Hospital Ward.

Service to disabled veterans of the World War is the hobby of Randolph S. Ocheltree, proprietor of an Indianapolis barber shop.

Mr. Ocheltree has been making visits to the soldiers' wards at an Indianapolis hospital every Sunday, along with eight or ten barbers employed by him, and has visited the hospital at least one afternoon each week by himself, for more than a year. He has shorn and shaved the disabled soldiers without charge and his brothers have done likewise in volunteering their services without cost to the heroes.

Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, has written a personal letter to Mr. Ocheltree, stating: "Please accept the sincere thanks of the American Legion for your unselfish devotion to the men who fought for us. It is an inspiration to our organization which places justice to the disabled above all other aims and purposes. I hope that I may have the pleasure of seeing you some day and thanking you in person for your service."

When of the Losing Side.

The securities of the Hamburg, American and North German Lloyd steamship companies ranked as reasonably conservative investments before the World War. On April 1 these companies will call in bonds issued at a par value of $32,500,000.

The redemption will cost only $10,000—the bonds happen to be in marks instead of dollars. The sound American business man who ten years ago put $100,000 into these securities will get back something less than $31. One advantage of our having won the war instead of Germany is that Liberty bonds are still worth from 98 to 99 cents to the dollar. The kaiser can paper his house at Broom with dollar bills, if he wants to, but it will cost him $425 a square foot to do it, plus paste and labor. The steamship bonds would be much cheaper.—American Legion Weekly.

Coat Outing in United States.

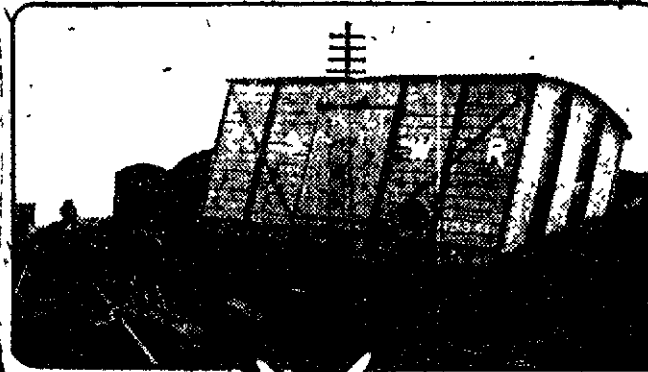

Existing coat mines in the United States can produce from 700,000,000 to 900,000,000 tons a year.

Spring Styles Shown in Paris

The fullness of a gown continues to be placed at the front and sides, the waistline is slightly higher, but doesn't reach normal waistline even yet. The straight silhouette divides honors with circular and bouffant outlines. Suits are three-piece models. Blon, box and cape-back jackets are the most popular styles for coats. Skirts are slightly fuller and often circular.

These old picture frames that go begging around the attic or cellar may be made into some of the delightful new models with little trouble and less expense. Old white enamel or oak frames may be treated as follows: With a bit of glass carefully scrape off all the enamel or polish. Sandpaper it to a smooth finish with a coarse sandpaper and later with a finer grade. For a soft brown paint the frame will be just right at this stage. Some of the newest picture frames that are finding place in the best shops show no stain or color of any kind. Artists claim that the decorative frame detracts from the beauty of the picture within.

Cactus Responsible for Cochineal.

Among its other virtues, the cactus gives us the cochineal—the insect used for coloring. Ledwienbeck, in 1703, discovered that it was the female of an insect (Coccus Cacti), which never moved from a certain spot on the cactus, the male being the active member of the family but colorless, and therefore useless. These insects are harvested three times during the dry season, being swept from the cacti into wide-mouthed bags with stiff brushes and killed in boiling water or hot ovens, after which they are dried in the sun and put up in small packages for the market. In this thoroughly dried condition 70,000 insects are required to make a pound.

Most Rigid of Ordinances.

One of the most rigid ordinances that can be imposed on a Hindu is that of being outcasted. No man may eat with him, and his own relatives will not permit him in their homes. He is completely ostracized.

Many Bug Varieties.

We have in the United States a long list of insects we usually designate as beetles. There are some 15,000 different kinds of them, and they range in size all the way from little ones that it almost requires the use of a microscope to see, to such giants as the spotted horn beetle—American Forestry Magazine.

A better motor lubricant

ATLANTIC Motor Oil has always been regarded as one of the finest products of its kind and day. Yet Atlantic engineers have never stopped with the belief that the limit of motor oil improvement has been reached.

Not once have they relaxed in their study of changing motor construction and changing lubrication requirements; nor in their efforts to produce a still better motor lubricant.

They have succeeded! To-day they offer you an Atlantic Motor Oil that is better than ever—still farther ahead in the field of high-grade motor lubricants—an oil that is noticeably

Longer lasting;

Higher in heat resistance;

Better in piston sealing qualities;

More enduring under the constant attacks of friction, pressure and impact against the bearing surfaces;

Better in every way that makes for higher motor efficiency and greater operating and upkeep economy.

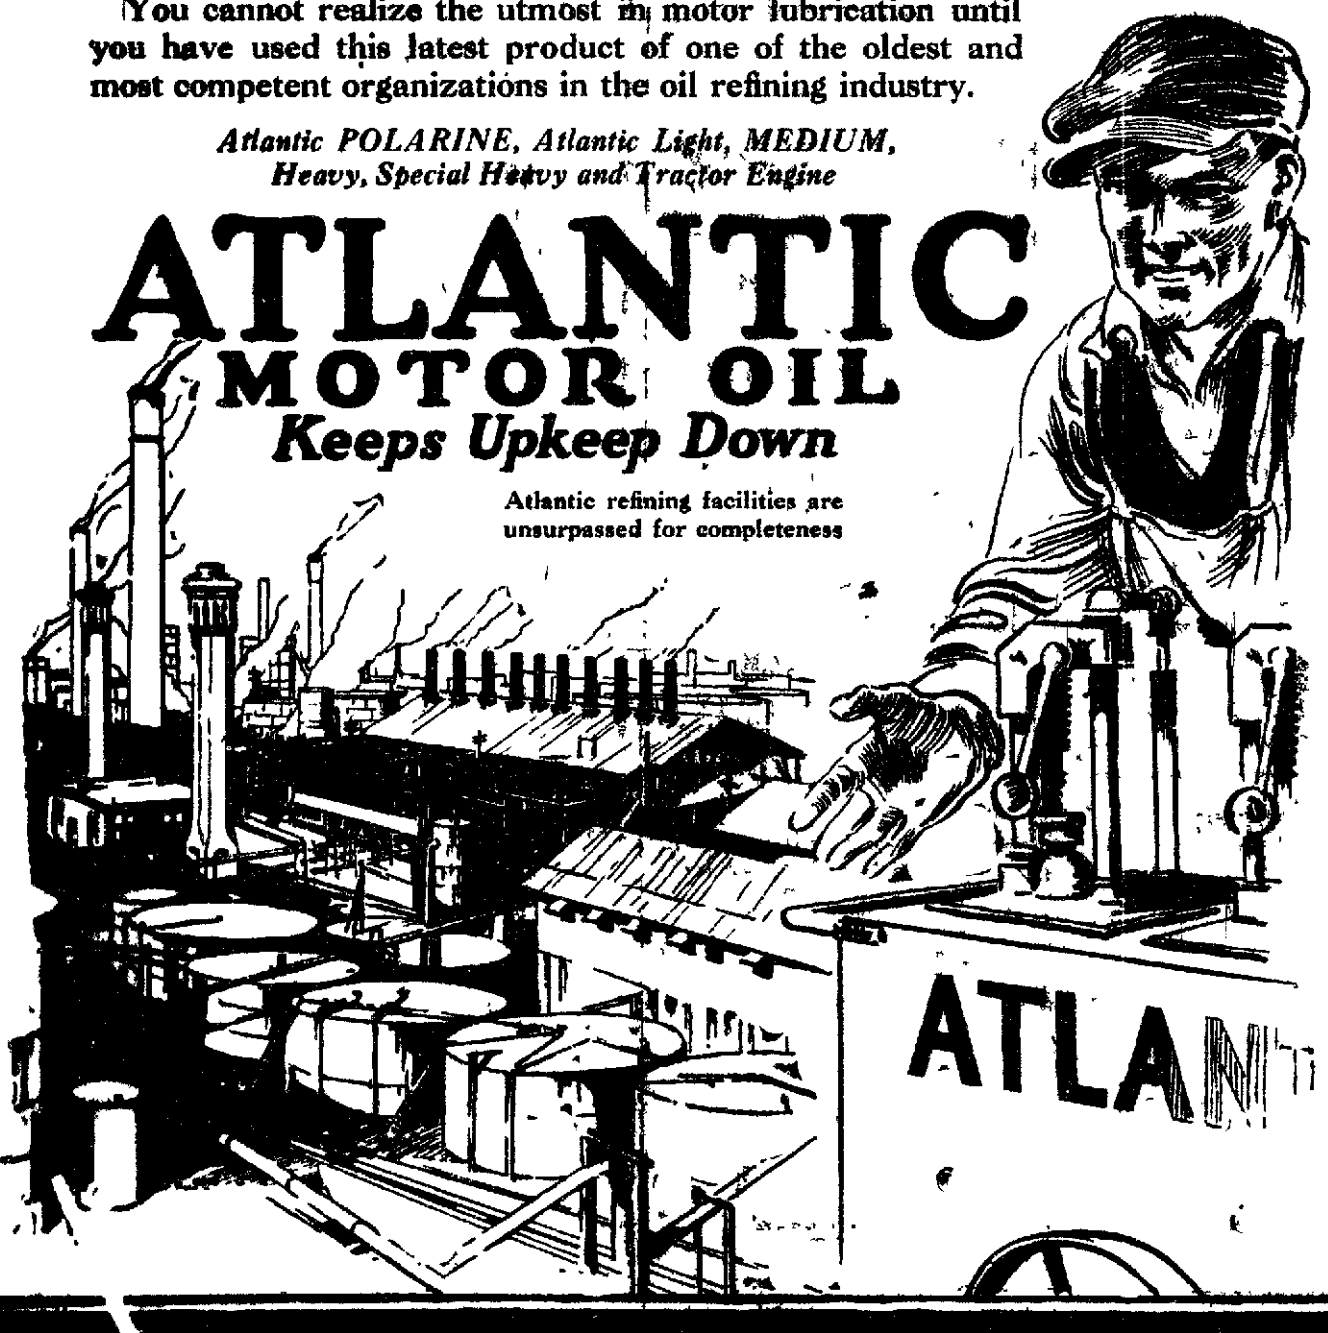

You cannot realize the utmost in motor lubrication until you have used this latest product of one of the oldest and most competent organizations in the oil refining industry.
